Letters to the Editor

The Great Camel Controversy

Dear Editor,

I was most interested in the article "Ice Abroad" published in the July 1980 issue of "Skating". What I found of particular interest was the paragraph on terminology. Being the first person to do a parallel spin—which my teacher, Jacques Gerschwiler and I invented and named the parallel spin—I was quite shocked when I came to this country and heard it called a camel spin. At first I did not know what was meant. If one had wanted to change the terminology an arabesque spin would have been more appropriate. The line of a fine arabesque is beautiful and beauty was what we had in mind when we first did the spin. As your writer from Australia infers—terms bring up visions—and the vision of what one is trying to do is all important.

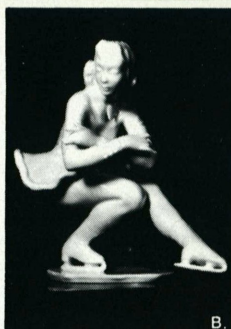

Sincerely yours,

Cecilia Colledge.

Cecilia Colledge

Miss Colledge's letter has created a bit of a controversy here in the offices of Skating magazine. Mary Ann feels that a camel spin does not look at all like a camel, whereas Cindy claims that if you trace the outline of a traditionally executed camel spin you will get a shape reminiscent of our four-legged friend, the camel. We have decided to let our readers settle the dispute. What do you think? Does a "camel" look like a camel?

The award was presented to Mr. Button by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, chairman of the gala benefit committee for Superskates VII, and Edwin I. Mosler, Jr., founder of Superskates and National Finance Chairman of the United States Olympic Committee.

Among those present at the awards presentation were special guests, Peggy Fleming and Elaine Zayak.

DO YOU SEW YOUR OWN SKATING COSTUMES?

If so, you might be interested in a new fabric developed by Princeton Industries, Inc. Called POLY PRO, the brushed, knitted fabric of eighty denier "Vectra" fiber represents the first use of Chevron yarn for this type of fabric. Princeton Industries expects to sell the fabric for active sportswear apparel, such as jogging suits or warm-ups, as well as for other outdoor sportswear and accessories.

Offering comfort in all weather, POLY PRO is forty-one percent lighter than cotton. Particularly desirable for athletic apparel, garments made of one hundred percent "Vectra" will transport perspiration to the surface of the fabric where it will evaporate quickly, leaving the body dry and comfortable. POLY PRO is stain resistant, odor resistant and virtually static and cling-free in normal humidity levels. It has superior colorfastness and is available in a wide variety of colors from rich navy blue to soft pale peach.

Leading manufacturers of cold weather sportswear have already adopted POLY PRO because it provides necessary warmth without excessive bulk, in addition to good fabric colors and outstanding comfort characteristics.

THE LOOP BROTHERS

Jamesville Jake and Delwood Loop

After their smash debut in Sun Valley this past summer, skating's hottest new sensations, "The Loop Brothers," will be appearing in the Jimmy Fund Show in December. (The Loop Brothers have been known to compete on occasion under assumed names. Do they look familiar to you?)

AN ALL STAR CAST IN THE 7TH ANNUAL SUPERSKATES

Olympic champions Peggy Fleming and John Curry will appear with an all-star cast of international skaters in the 7th annual production of Superskates at 8 p.m. Monday, November 17th at Madison Square Garden.

Sponsored by the New York State Olympic Committee, Superskates is the single most important fund-raising benefit for the U.S. Olympic Committee. Past, present and future skating champions will appear in the one night only performance. Proceeds go toward the development and training of all Olympic athletes.

The roster of skaters who will appear in Superskates VII include: Peggy Fleming, World and Olympic Champion, who will be making her first appearance with Superskates; John Curry, Great Britain's World and Olympic Champion; Lisa-Marie Allen, 1980 National Silver Medalist; David Santee, 1980 National Silver Medalist; Caitlin and Peter Carruthers, 1980 National Senior Pair Silver Medalists; Judy Blumberg and Michael Seibert, 1980 National Dance Silver Medalists; Fumio Igashii, 1980 Japanese National Champion, Brian Pockar, 1980 Canadian Champion; Scott Hamilton, 1980 Bronze Medalist; Sandy Lenz, 1980 Bronze Medalist; Elaine Zayak, fourth National Senior Ladies 1980; Tracey Wainman, 1980 Canadian Bronze Medalist; Dana Graham and Paul Wylie, 1980 Junior Pairs Champions; Katherine Healy, eleven-year-old ballet star, who is the subject of a bestseller, A Very Young Skater, by photo journalist Jill Krentenz; and the Wilmington Skaters.

Superskates VII is spearheaded by a benefit committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney. Honorary chairman of the benefit is New York Governor Hugh L. Carey. The skaters will be saluted at a supper party to be held in the Garden rotunda immediately following the performance.

During the seven years since it was founded by Edwin H. Mosler, Jr., National Finance Chairman of the U.S. Olympic Committee, Superskates has been an important showcase for figure skaters especially the contenders for Olympic championships. As a matter of interest, every member of the U.S. official Olympic team at the Lake Placid Winter games appeared in the November 1979 Superskates VI production.

Superskates tickets will be on sale at Madison Square Garden and at all Ticketron outlets. For group rates of twenty-five or more seats call 212-244-3590. The Madison Square Garden box office number is 212-563-8088.

Champions of the 80's

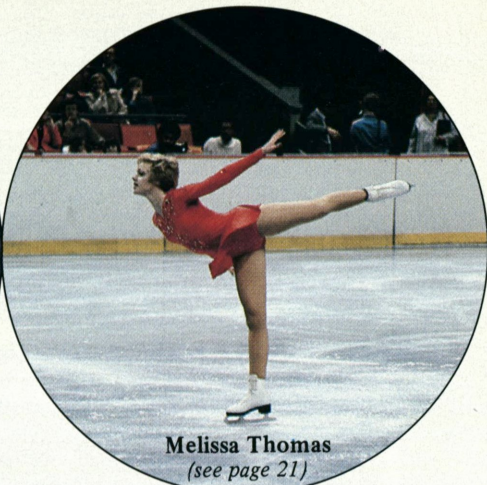

—Floyd Conner

The challenge of replacing Charlie Tickner and Linda Fratianne is a great one especially considering each has been a world champion and Olympic medalist. Fortunately, many American skaters are talented and youthful enough to replace our retired champions and represent the United States in the 1984 Olympic Winter Games at Sarajevo. Here are profiles of some of our potential champions.

1st Yr. Senior Ladies

Last year's Junior Ladies include a talented quintet who should make their presence felt immediately in the Championship division. Leading the way as they had the year before in Novice are Rosalynn Sumners and Vikki de Vries.

Winner is the best way to characterize Rosalynn Sumners. Rosalynn chose to represent her country at Junior Worlds instead of trying to add the National Junior crown to that of her 1979 National Novice title. Equally adept at figures and free, she should have immediate impact upon the senior ranks.

ROSALYNN SUMNERS, SEATTLE SC

1980 Junior Worlds	Intl	1st	Sumners	Thomson	Paul
1980 Pacifics	Jr	1st	Sumners	de Vries	Chin
1980 Northwest Pacifics	Jr	1st	Sumners	Seller	Mc Cormick
1979 Nationals	Nov	1st	Sumners	de Vries	Sikes
1979 Pacifics	Nov	1st	Sumners	de Vries	Causey
1979 Northwest Pacifics	Nov	1st	Sumners	Seller	Fosha
1978 Nationals	Nov	5th	Schelske	Hasler	Zayak
1978 Pacifics	Nov	2nd	Schelske	Sumners	Hasler
1978 Northwest Pacifics	Nov	2nd	Flora	Sumners	Bagley

Vikki de Vries already has an enviable record: a National Junior gold and National Novice silver medal. An excellent all-around performer, Vikki is especially good at jumps; she includes a triple loop in her repertoire. Her competitive rivalry with Rosalynn Sumners is a fitting replacement to the FratiAnne-Allen matchup of recent years.

VIKKI DE VRIES, LOS ANGELES FSC

1978 Pacifics	Nov	4th	Schelske	Sumners	Hasler
1978 Southwest Pacifics	Nov	2nd	Hasler	de Vries	Schelske

Few have ever risen to national prominence as quickly as petite Tiffany Chin. In 1980, she just missed matching Janet Lynn's feat of winning National Juniors at twelve. Future placings depend on whether Tiffany's school figures can catch up with her free skating skills.

1st Yr. Senior Ladies

Good school figures are Melissa Thomas' greatest assets as a skater. Her solid lead in the compulsories nearly won her the 1980 National Junior Ladies title. Melissa is a capable, stylish free skater who creates a secure feeling with her audience.

Despite an occurrence of leukemia, a broken wrist, and a spleen operation within the last year-and-a-half, Susan Guild barely missed being on the podium in Atlanta last January. Susan is a very intelligent, innovative freeskater who is just beginning to receive the national recognition she deserves. Improving school figures may help provide coach, Norma Sahlin, with another champion.

1st Yr. Senior Men

The Junior Men at Atlanta represented one of the deepest and most evenly matched fields in memory. Some names to remember for the future:

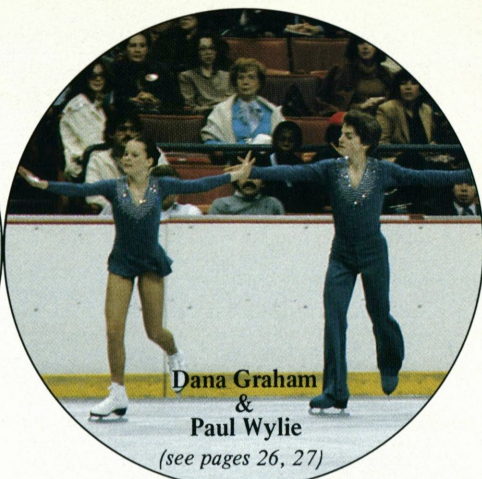

Tom Dickson seems to thrive on pressure and that attribute carried him to the National Junior Men's title in 1980. A very experienced skater, Tom has been at Nationals three of the last four years. He is equally proficient in figures and free as he illustrated by winning figures in the 1979 Nationals and capturing the free in 1980.

1st Yr. Senior Men

Paul Wylie is probably the most confident, polished skater ever to emerge from Juniors. Contributing to his confidence are a National Novice gold in 1979, a National Junior silver in 1980, and even a National Junior Pairs gold with Dana Graham. If he can master the triple jumps, Paul may be coach, Carlo Fassi's next Olympic threat.

Jim White improved two positions last year and won a bronze medal in the Junior Men division at Nationals. Jim is always near the top after figures and his consistency in all phases of the competition usually keeps him there. He can be expected to make steady progress in the Senior ranks.

Nathan Birch is primarily known for his brilliance in figures; he was first at the National Novice and Junior competitions in 1978 and 1980. In the past various ailments have affected his stamina, although he demonstrated his free skating ability by winning the short program in Atlanta. Nathan has an athletic style reminiscent of a young David Santee and if he can escape injury he will be one to watch for in the eighties.

1st Yr. Junior Ladies

Some of our long range Olympic hopefuls competed as Novices last season. Stand-outs in each division are profiled in the following section.

1st Yr. Junior Ladies

Joan Campbell had a spectacular year in 1980 sweeping the Novice divisions at Southwest Pacifics, Pacifics, and Nationals. At this point, Joan is stronger in figures than in the freestyle. Her victory coupled with that of Vikki de Vries seem to insure that ladies from the Los Angeles FSC will continue the winning ways of Linda Fratianne.

The one-two finish of Joan Campbell and Debbie Thomas at Nationals accentuates the progress black skaters have made in recent years. Debbie's outstanding record reveals that she has received a medal in every competition she has entered since Intermediates. A strong jumper, Debbie placed first in the freestyle portion of the Novice division in Atlanta.

Frankie Hermanson's bronze medal climaxed a great year which she began by capturing the Upper Great Lakes title. Her freeskating possesses the effortless flow associated with other skaters from Rockford such as Janet Lynn and Sandy Lenz. Frankie has the potential to emulate their incredible success.

Although her poor school figures kept her from winning a medal at Nationals, Rosanna Tovi's dynamic freeskating suggests she will be winning her share of championships very soon. Despite the disadvantage of skating in the first group, she placed second in the free, landing an amazing fifteen jumps in her three minute program. Rosanna is a worthy successor to another jumping wonder from the East—Elaine Zayak.

1st Yr. Junior Men

Christopher Bowman, 1979 National Novice bronze medalist, is another who is likely to be on the move in 1981. Christopher's strong suit is his free skating although he is so young that his figures can be expected to improve. Coach Frank Carroll has every reason to believe that Christopher will provide him with a male titlist in the near future.

Like Novice Ladies champion, Joan Campbell, James Cygan was three-for-three in 1980 winning the Southwesterns, Midwesterns, and Nationals. In each of them, he dominated the freestyle. James already knows how to fill every second of a program, a very mature attribute for a skater of his age.

Two falls in the long program cost figures leader, Craig Henderson, the National Novice title. It was his lone setback in 1980 having won the Central Pacifics and Pacifics. Henderson has an impressive string of winning Central Pacifics three years in a row.

Tom Schneider, fifth at Nationals in Cincinnati, won a bronze medal in his second try. Tom's consistent record over the past three years demonstrates he is always in contention for a medal. Schneider is becoming well acquainted with the gold and silver medalists as in six of his last seven competitions he has faced Cygan or Henderson or both.

1st Yr. Senior Pairs

The Junior Pairs medalists at Atlanta finished one-two-three in both the short and free skating programs. These three pairs along with Abolt and Peeks, who were fourth in the Junior Worlds, insure a bright future for the United States in pairs skating.

Displaying their trademark, the separating pair spiral, Dana Graham and Paul Wylie became the 1980 U.S. Junior Pairs champions. Fine single skaters as well, Paul was the U.S. Junior Men's silver medalist and Dana was Senior Ladies' silver medalist at the Southwesterns. Coach John Nicks may add another championship pair to his credit if Dana and Paul can bring their pair moves up to the level of their individual ones.

Maryan and Bryan Amaral overcame a fall to win a bronze medal in Junior Pairs at Nationals. 1st Yr. Senior Dance

For the U.S. to again challenge for medals at the world level in dance it is imperative that young dancers are encouraged to develop their skills. The following couples show the kind of promise which should make them competitive internationally.

Renee Roca and Andrew Ouellette brought home bronze medals in dance from the Junior Worlds in only their second year skating together. In their first season as a team, Renee and Andrew finished second in the National Silver Dance division. Andrew just missed a medal at the Portland Nationals with his previous partner, Laura Lansinger.

In their first Nationals, Janice Kindrachuk and Blake Hobson exceeded all expectations by placing third in the Junior Dance event. Success is nothing new to Janice and Blake who were gold medalists at the 1980 Midwestern and 1979 Upper Great Lakes championships. Their high energy level on the ice guarantees their routines will be well received.

Space doesn't permit a profile of every outstanding young skater in the country. Other talented skaters expected to be heard from include Kristy Hogan (Santa Monica FSC), Bobby Beauchamp (Santa Monica FSC), Stewart Sturgeon (SC of New York), Lori Nein (Skokie Valley SC), Scott Thompson (Chicago FSC), Gary Kemp (Palace FSC), Scott Williams (Arctic Blades FSC), Angelo d'Agostino (Skokie Valley SC), and Jeff Freedman (Greenbrier FSC) just to name a few. The quality and depth of talent should make the 1980's the most interesting and exciting period ever in American skating.

Skaters' Forum

Part 2

by Mary Ann Ruppura

Skaters' Forum, Part 2 provides an opportunity to become acquainted with some of the young skaters who hope to become champions of the 80's.

Q: How will figure skating in the 1980's differ from what we have seen in the 1970's?

Rosalynn Sumners: You will be seeing a much stronger all-around skater—in triples (much more than in the 70's), stronger style, presentation—also stronger figures.

Tiffany Chin: It has become more and more important to have triple jumps. I hope in the 1980's there will be more emphasis on the artistic style of skating. In this way a great champion skater will also be a great skater in the eyes of the general audience.

Vikki de Vries: Not too much different, except that triple jumps will be more common.

Melissa Thomas: The athletic portion of skating is being stressed more (triple jumps).

Susan Guild: Since the 1970's the triple jump has become a common element in figure skating. Now in the 80's, I feel that the skater is going to use the technique in combination with new innovative choreography, including impressive new styles of skating.

Tom Dickson: I think we will see an increased amount of athleticism involved. But the supreme skater will be one that can do it with integrity and with an artistic flair.

Jim White: This coming fall there will be a set single group of figures for skaters competing in Junior and Senior divisions, whereas, in the 1970's there were two and three groups of figures to draw from. Skaters might attempt to do more difficult jumps (stunts, etc.). However, I also think there will be more concentration on the traditional beauty/presentation, etc. in skating which seemed to be ignored in the 1970's.

Nathan Birch: Figure skating in the 70's improved in two major fields. Technically, with triples and artistically, with the use of more ballet and jazz. I think in 80's more skaters will use ballet and jazz to improve their skating and the use of triples will become more frequent with the younger skaters. Perhaps some quads.

Christopher Bowman: The jumps are getting more scientific all the time, to be able to do better triples and even "quadruples", you're going to have to be able to do all the difficult athletics with excellent choreography and make it look easy, more like a dance or a show.

Joan Campbell: In the 80's there will be more original moves. In previous years, it seemed as if skaters turned away from doing something different. But now the way to get ahead is to do something original.

Debbie Thomas: I think triples will be the answer in the 80's. Most of the style will probably stay the same, because everyone will be concentrating on triples. Maybe the 80's will bring quadruples into skating. The people with good figures, jumps, and style are your 1980 champions.

Frankie Hermanson: I think free style will be much stronger with more triple jumps in Novice and in Junior Ladies divisions.

Rosanna Tovi: In a freestyle program, the athletic requirements will become increasingly difficult, the added rotations to various jumps and more complicated jump combinations will put a severe strain on attempts toward developing and maintaining artistic style and creative expression in the program. Because of these difficult requirements the skater will have to spend more time training on and off the ice. Also, a fine academic program suited to the serious skaters schedule and real needs, may be developed.

Jim Cygan: There will be more upcoming skaters that will be recognized and the style of skaters will be better, while more and harder jumps will be completed.

Craig Henderson: Hopefully, there will be some unique innovations, combined with some interesting moves.

Dana Graham: Skating in the 1980's will be concentrated on all-round ability rather than an extreme accent on jumping.

Paul Wylie: I feel there will be more emphasis on all around skating, instead of just jumps and "tricks". Choreography, style, flair, plus all-around "skating" will become more important in the eighties.

Debbie Lynch: I feel all the style is changing. We are skating more modernly, more freely. And using more modern music changes the skating style. I feel it's a good change we are making.

Keith Green: Different moves, lifts will change, spins, footwork and style will be more noticeable.

Maryan Amaral: I feel that skating will probably take a more artistic and innovative turn in the 1980's, but leaning more towards power and speed.

Bryan Amaral: I feel that skating will tend to take on a more artistic focus but will progress on an athletic level, as it has steadily been doing.

Q: What differences will be in this year's program as compared to last year's?

Rosalynn Sumners: There will be an increase in the amount of triples in the program, a change of division from Juniors to Seniors, change of music, stronger presentation, stronger jumps in general.

Tiffany Chin: Since my Senior program is not completely set yet, the following is just a guess: I already have triple toe loops and salchow, and since I've already landed some triple loops, I imagine all three will be in my program. In last year's Junior program I could only manage to have nice double axels. Frank feels that I should be able to skate more difficult, sophisticated and a more artistic program than last year since I'll be a little older.

Melissa Thomas: In this year's program, I will have more difficult combinations, at least two triple jumps and I'll be moving up from Juniors to Seniors.

Susan Guild: In my Senior program this year, I am trying to achieve the maturity that a "first year" Senior needs to have. My music is stronger and I am working to strengthen my skating accordingly.

Tom Dickson: I have been working on making my program more explosive and subtle, when it calls for it. Also, the fact of a five minute program calls for these types of dramatics to make it more interesting.

Jim White: I will compete in Senior men's division for the first time this year. My music is also new, and I will skate a five minute program instead of a four minute. The school figures are also new to me.

Nathan Birch: This year my program has been changed. The music is faster and the ending is longer. My presentation will be better because of a new choreographer.

Christopher Bowman: I'm trying to improve my speed and power this year, but I want to concentrate on my style, too. I would like to be known as a classy skater. Also, this year, I'm changing my music to more contemporary music.

Joan Campbell: I don't think there will be much difference as far as music or presentation goes.

Debbie Thomas: My music is a lot more powerful than last year's; so is my program. I am planning to have four triples in my long program, (twice as many as last year). As for my short program, a triple toe walley/double loop combination. Now that I'm a Junior lady, my coach Alex McGowan says I've got a goal and I'm responsible for reaching it.

Frankie Hermanson: I will have a short program with figures and a long program for the first time. I am excited about the short program!

Rosanna Tovi: This is my first year as a Junior lady. My choreographer, Tommy Litz has picked "The Skaters' Waltz" for my long program. It will be thirty seconds longer than last year. He is painting a picture of skating over the last fifty years and I have to learn various ice dances and special moves to express the music which interweaves its theme throughout in varying tempos. This in addition to triple jumps I hope to own by competition time in November. My short program, the first I've ever had, is being choreographed by Tommy Litz and Stacey Smith. I also hope to improve my artistic style especially in the jump itself.

Jim Cygan: Going to Novice to Junior will be harder because of the short program.

Craig Henderson: This year I will attempt two more triples in my program, and also feel my music more.

Dana Graham: We are working for more maturity as we move from Junior to Senior Pairs. We feel this is necessary for us to be competitive in Senior Pairs competition.

Paul Wylie: This year we will be concentrating on maturing our style as we move from Juniors to Seniors. We will increase speed and work on more speed in our program. In singles, I will work on improving my figures, and perfecting my triple jumps.

Maryan Amaral: This year being our first year in senior pairs, we will keep our contemporary music and basic style though more emphasis will be placed on ballet, speed and unison.

Bryan Amaral: This year we will be competing in the senior pair level. Musically, we are remaining with a contemporary group of pieces and we hope our skating will take on a more modern contemporary style.

Q: Who do you see as providing your major competition (nationally and/or internationally) this year?

Rosalynn Sumners: Elaine Zayak, Tracy Wainman, Sandy Lenz, Alicia Risberg, Tiffany Chin, Vikki de Vries.

Tiffany Chin: Since this is my first year in Seniors, and I do aim high, that means every national Senior lady will be my competitor, and yet in another way my true competitor is myself. If I work hard and seek to improve myself, in due time, I am confident that I can be groomed to be a real winner.

Vikki de Vries: Lisa Allen, Sandy Lenz, Elaine Zayak.

Melissa Thomas: All my competitors are my competition, but the most important idea is that I do the best I can in competition and not worry about anyone else.

Susan Guild: Since this is my first year as a Senior lady, I really do not consider myself as a threat to any particular person or they a threat to me. However, I have one great competitor who is myself. This year has been devoted towards competing with and being satisfied with myself.

Tom Dickson: Nationally, everyone. Internationally, Russia, Canada, Poland.

Jim White: A good number of National competitors in Senior men. Such as, Brian Boitano and Robert Wagenhoffer, etc.

Nathan Birch: Nationally, Paul Wylie who was second in Junior men last year.

Christopher Bowman: I don't think about what my competitors are doing. Each year I try to set a goal for myself, whether it's learning new triples or taking tests or going to Nationals, then I try my very best to do the best I can to achieve these goals.

Joan Campbell: Before I think about beating anyone, I must beat myself.

Debbie Thomas: My major competition for this year is me. I have to compete against myself, so when I get to the point where I have beat my normal self, I will become a winner.

Frankie Hermanson: I really don't see one person as major competition. I think everyone that competes is some kind of competition one way or another.

Rosanna Tovi: To numerous to mention and one never knows between the emotional state of the skater whether or not he or she will even be competing this year.

Craig Henderson: All my competitors I skate against this year, I consider my major competitors.

Dana Graham: Caitlin and Peter Carruthers and Sheryl Franks and Michael Botticelli will be our major competition.

Paul Wylie: The Carruthers, and Michael Botticelli and Sheryl Franks.

Debbie Lynch: It's very hard for me to say. Keith and I are just moving up, and Seniors is a big step. So, to me everyone is a major competitor.

Maryan Amaral: All the senior pair teams that have previously competed and are competing next year will provide our major competition.

Wendy did succeed passing her 4th figure test July 2, 1980!

Dear Kid Talk,

If at first you don't succeed try try and try again. This is just what I have done.
Tomorrow will be my 4th time for taking my forth figure test and hopefully my last time.
I have written here a poem for those taking their fourth test. Good luck!

Wendy Boylan
Silver Bluffs FSC.

Ode To The 4th Test

May my back double throes
Be done with ease

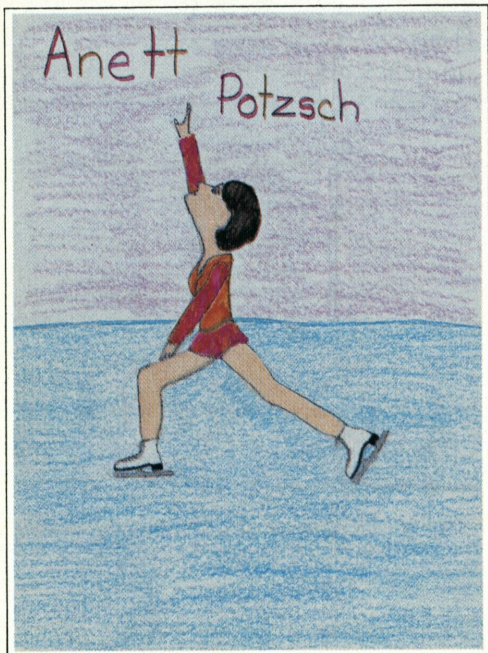

My change throes clean
When closely seen

The brackets traced and correctly placed

May my back loops flow
And judges please let this test go

TALK

Dear Kid Talk,

Our names are Cindy & Monica Conitt, we are twin sisters. We belong to the Missachickon, I.C. We have been skating for 6 years. We are 8th and 7th years old. While now we are working on double toe loops and double loop jumps but we still can't do that, dumb bunny hot, we keep on tripping on our pattern minty nine blades. We also pair skate but we don't do very good because always argue over who the girl & who's the boy. We have a joke for you:

What looks alike and skates?

Answer: ST

(Circle No. 26 on reader service card)

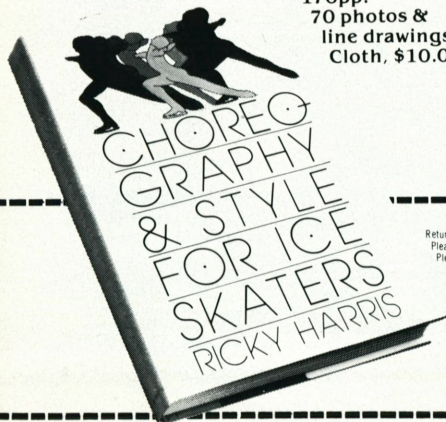

Linda Fratianne cheers, "A fantastic book! Unique theories that really work...a must for all skaters."

At last, there's a book that helps you enhance the creativity of your skating. CHOREOGRAPHY AND STYLE FOR ICE SKATERS shows how to recognize your own distinctive way of moving and how to highlight this personal style on the ice. Here's detailed advice on every aspect of your preparation and presentation:

- Planning a program step-by-step, including the sequence of moves, the choice of where on the ice to perform them, and the selection of music.
- Using facial expressions and gestures for maximum impact.
- Learning the secrets of successful improvisation.
- Developing body awareness through off-ice exercises and warm-ups.
- Understanding how to focus and control your body's energy.

For competition, for exhibitions, or just for your own satisfaction, you'll find this book's pointers can add a new note of excitement to your skating. Look for it at your favorite store, or use the coupon to order direct from the publisher.

on ice, choreographs competitive and exhibition programs, and is a member of the 1978-79 support staff of the Squaw Valley Olympic Training Center.

Acclaim from America's leading skaters:

"This is a book that we've needed for a long, long time...one we wish we'd had when we started skating pairs a decade ago!"

—from the Foreword by Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner

"Ricky Harris has captured what makes a skater tick and successfully put it down on paper."

—Wendy Burge, World Professional Champion

"It's about time for a book like this, and Ricky's the one to do it."

—Ron Ludington, World and Olympic Coach

"Even after being involved in many aspects of skating for twenty years, I learned and was inspired by Ricky's book....It shows how to go that extra bit further—to really sparkle!"

—Jo Jo Starbuck, former Olympian and star of Ice Capades
