Was it only yesterday that Morgan Doyle, a 45-year-old lawyer from San Francisco, competed to “The Man On The Flying Trapeze”? Tongue-in-cheek, of course, but there were others about the same age, and some older, all serious and loving competition. At age 14 in my first competition, I was considered still in diapers. There weren’t that many kids. Then competition was for anyone who wanted to compete. No one thought twice about age. Nowadays, even a teenager who say she wants to enter her first competition gets a funny look. It isn’t done, my dear. Yet in the thirties and forties, competing was done by secretaries, clerks, housewives, lawyers . . . and my favorite, Felix Locher. About 53 at the time, he was known outside skating for being the father of Jon Hall who had starred opposite Dorothy Lamour in the movie, The Hurricane. Inside skating, he was known more for his personality, charm, wit, and enthusiasm. Oh, how he loved to skate! (When he found a competition was to be in Yosemite Valley and “skaters’ rates” were being given by the grandiose Ahwahnee Hotel, he said, “Fine, I’ll compete”—which he’d never done before—and proceeded to Yosemite. In the lobby, someone stopped him. “Felix, you need a routine.” “Ach, nothing to it, he said, I’ll do some of this and some of that—appropriate flourishes—and if I’m stumped I’ll do one of those Axel Jacksons?”)

Agnes have been dropping steadily since. Two of Sonja’s competitors in the mid-thirties, Megan Taylor and Cecilia Colledge, of Great Britain, were called “babies” as teenagers. Today, the word around is if you haven’t begun skating by the time you’re six, forget it. And also washed up at eighteen! Reminds me of that nursery rhyme: “Solomon Grundy, born on Monday, christened on Tuesday, married on Wednesday, took ill on Thursday, worse on Friday, died on Saturday, buried on Sunday.”

T’aint so. Skating competitions are now coming full circle. Take LuLu Brooks, of Little Rock, Arkansas. “I didn’t set foot on the ice till I was 53 years old,” she writes. “One day, the kids at the rink asked me to go to a competition with them in Alpha (ISIA) . . . I really got some strange looks when I told my friends I was going to San Diego to skate for one minute . . . [Now] I’m going to the ISIA Nationals in Detroit to compete in Free-Style Three.” And Hugh Devore writes, “I’m 56 years old . . . will be in four events . . . It has been a whole new world. Getting out on the ice all dressed up in a nice outfit is a wonderful thing for me.” Is adult competition odd? Hunh-uh. There’s golf. And tennis. And World Veterans’ Games track meets that occur all over the globe. (Bill Bigelow, in his mid-seventies, has run in Sweden, Australia, New Zealand, and Puerto Rico, as well as on many U.S. tracks.) And Charles Schulz, Snoopy’s creator, hosts teams of middle-age-and-up hockey players from all over the country in his Santa Rosa, California, rink each year. (Hey, it’s no-holds-barred, too! They is rough!)

There have always been adult dance events—with some giggling about how colorful and “cute” they were—but the adults are now taking to the singles events (and pairs when they can be found) with glee. Carlotta Heed, of Fairfield, Connecticut, (age 40 plus), writes, “Performing a program for an audience is part of the experience of figure skating as in any other sport or art form . . . It is also a special time—a time to dress up . . . and having only one chance to do your best . . . a gamble rewarded by the audience clapping which . . . dissolves all feelings of tension and nerves . . .” And Garre Taylor, age 34, from Riverside, California, adds, “I have won several medals and trophies. These are great, but the actual fun is the active participation in a competition.” Donna Fountain loves the regular USFSA competitions and enjoys the challenge of competing. She lives in Santa Clara, Califor-

Balance*

A keen sense of balance is a gift that a lucky few seem to be born with. The rest of us have to turn to scientific means to acquire and develop it.

I do not agree with those who claim that you are born with or without certain talents, and must accept your fate passively. As long as a skater has the will to learn, and a pro has the desire to teach, very few problems should be considered insurmountable.

The development of good balance is more complex than the study of spins. It requires the training of a sense rather than the perfecting of an action. It is of prime importance in the control of poise, figures, turns, timing, jumps, etc. A good sense of equilibrium, whether inborn or acquired, is almost indispensable to skating.

During the early years is the time to start instilling the habit of warming up on the floor before beginning to skate. In my opinion, this should be done before figures as well as freestyle. This is because floor exercises can quickly warm up the equilibrium equipment in your body, giving you a better sense of balance then when the body is cold.

Instability is increased during times of stress such as competitions, when fear or worry may be present, preventing muscles from naturally performing their duties. Fear of losing balance is the surest way to lose it. Doing everything you can to stabilize your equilibrium, such as warm-up exercises, is only wise.

Another aid to achieving balance is to use directional focus; learning to focus on certain objects around the rink such as pillars, posts, speakers, people, chairs, music box, etc. This can be of great value coming out of spins, jumps, and a variety of steps.

The axiom, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is extremely fitting in regard to balance. For example, to insure better stability in a jump, care should be taken to develop balance in the preparation before the jump by having an even distribution of weight over the foot. Preparations

TEAM TRAVEL - PART III

A conduct code must be sent home and signed by skater and parent and returned to the travel chairman. This code will state if there is any misconduct or disruptive behavior on the part of a skater or skaters, suspension will be in order for them at that competition. If problems occur after the team has skated, that member will be suspended from the next competition.

Generally, a coach spends endless hours in the rink at a competition. Skaters, chaperones, and managers remain at the hotel. If a skater or skaters wish permission to leave the hotel for shopping, a movie, etc., permission must be obtained from the team manager. Off the ice and at the hotel the team manager is in charge. Permission given to a skater or skaters by the coach to leave the hotel unknown by the manager can lead to problems. Permission should be granted to all skaters by their team manager. Each team from a club has a separate manager. Skaters must ask the appropriate team manager.

For the safety of the children who wish to go shopping an adult chaperone should be present. It is suggested that teen skaters should go in groups of three or four.

When skaters are permitted to leave the hotel a check-in time is mandatory.

Finally, the dress code must be printed so that everyone is informed.

HOT LIGHTS AND COLD STEEL

by Mahlon A. Bradley, M.D.

At the National Championships in Kansas City in January 1985, an informal poll of the career aspirations of the International Skating Team showed that, second to a career in professional skating, a career in medicine was most appealing. My own experience with skaters has upheld this intriguing fact. The purpose of this month's "Sports Medicine Brief" is to explore this fascination skaters have with medicine and how pursuing a career in one affects the other.

Just what is it that attracts skaters to medicine? The most common response of physicians and former competitors would be the opportunity to serve others in need. This desire to help others is interesting in that skating, as essentially a sport of individuals (except for the newly developed precision skating), develops self-centered principles of discipline, motivation, and concentration. The wild cheering of a noisy ice skating arena after an exceptional skating performance is extremely different from the quiet self-satisfaction of relieving pain or discomfort of another. Is it that with the years of long hours focusing on one's own ability, achievement, and progression, skaters interested in medicine realize an overwhelming, underlying desire to give of themselves to others? The answer, I think, is partly yes. It is also true of a number of skaters not involved in a medical career with the evidence being the rapidly growing number of benefit skating shows across the country.

However, it is interesting to note that many former skaters who are M.D.s are in practices involving surgical and/or technical procedures. An operation or technical procedure is indeed a performance that, based on both an immediate as well as long-term result, can be marked on a scale of 0 to 6.0. It is a performance that requires previous long hours of preparation, study, technical practice, concentration, and many times, endurance. The egocentric principles learned in the skating rink can then be directly applied in a field that not only brings the satisfaction of a spirited performance under pressure, but that also directly affects the life of a fellow human being! I believe this combination of the excitement of a "hands-on" type of practice with the realization of an underlying desire to help others is what most attracts skaters to medicine.

How, then, does skating affect one's aspirations in a career in medicine and, just as important, how does pursuing a medical career affect skating? As a practical matter, physicians and surgeons who were past skaters would substantiate the fact that being a competitive figure skater makes the application process to college, medical school, and residency a less formidable affair. From the standpoint of Admission Committees, competitive skaters are attractive people to read about and interview. The attractiveness begins with the respect they have in one's commitment, motivation, and physical ability to achieve. Skating provides the basic ideals necessary to survive the strenuous training and busy lifestyle of medicine.

If viewed from the perspective that a career in medicine is an extension of a person's skating career, then it is difficult to argue that pursuing one career inhibits another. It is unique that an actively competing skater would pursue medical training simultaneously, e.g., David Jenkins performed the tremendous feat of winning the 1960 Olympic Gold Medal while in medical school! Most physicians today had culminated their amateur skating career prior to beginning their medical training. However, the pursuance of pre-medical education is a matter of personal preference. This aspect of education requires thoughtful decision and discussion with peers, coaches, family, and counselors. In my opinion, the experience of a formal education (be it part-time, full-time, interrupted, or continuous) of reading, learning, solving problems, meeting other young people interested in politics, finance, management, history, drama, and art cannot but add a new dimension to a skater's perspective.

Ricky Harris

such as this can be practiced repetitively to achieve better balance.

One major factor that makes it possible to hold balance at the completion of a jump is to land at a slant. Landing from a long elevation, the body must incline at an angle that will result in counteracting the force of the momentum. The degree of body slant and the

Although the focus of this article centers on skaters and their fascination with medicine as physicians and surgeons, there are innumerable opportunities in the health field. The above discussion can broadly be applied to careers in osteopathy, psychology, nursing, nutrition, technical positions, e.g., Operating Room Technicians, Emergency Medical Technicians, and Paramedics. Others may satisfy their need to help others by participating in research activities in human biology, chemistry, and physics. With medicine becoming more and more dependent on technology, persons with computer and engineering backgrounds have become directly associated with physicians and their techniques of patient care. I also cannot help but believe that the principles of motivation, self-discipline, concentration, and physical endurance learned on a 200 ft. by 100 ft. sheet of ice would be extremely useful in the professional careers of dentistry, law, or business.

If you have an interest in the health field as a potential career choice, do not hesitate to contact one of the Sports Medicine members listed in the USFSA Rulebook.

I would like to thank Franklin S. Nelson, M.D., David Jenkins, M.D., Hugh C. Graham, Jr., M.D., and Angela D. Smith, M.D. for their thoughtful input towards this article.

—Mahlon A. Bradley, M.D.

amount of plié (knee bend) are determined by the velocity and trajectory of the jump. Stability is established on the way up from the plié.

And, of course, posture plays an extremely important part in balance. If the pelvis is in line, knee over the toe in plié, stomach pulled in, shoulders down, and all muscles lined up properly, balance will be much easier to achieve and maintain.

One final word to add an extra touch to your team's weekend. If possible, plan a team breakfast or dinner in a private room or a hospitality room. Emphasize that team spirit. The team captain and the team manager may have some final words for the team.

Once you have had the opportunity to travel with a team you will never forget it. It is an experience filled with enthusiasm and excitement and one the team will always remember with fond memories.

Good luck this coming season and have fun!

So does Theresa Stockemer, 38, another Californian (Thousand Oaks, near Los Angeles) who writes, "... we really stick together before, during, and after the competitions. We all call or write to each other to find out what competitions we want to compete in each year . . . Being adults, we can't take chances kids take because we either have to go to work right after we get off the ice in the morning, or go to work the next day if we skate in the evening . . . Our main objective is to prove that all facets of skating can be enjoyed by all ages, levels, capabilities, and persistence . . . For all the adults who have been wishing they could skate, 'get with it'; for all the non-working pros (not teaching or doing shows), reinstate as amateurs, you can compete again; and you skaters who quit when you were kids and miss it, come on back—others have . . . we all work together and encourage each other . . . nothing's impossible!" Deb Vestal, a 33-year-old Minneapolis skater, agrees: "Who says we're too old? Never!"

INTERNATIONAL SUGAR CRITERIUM TOURS, FRANCE NOVEMBER 13-17, 1985

by Jean-Christophe Berlot

The U.S. skating team which competed in the 1985 International Sugar Criterium left Tours with four medals—one Gold, two Silver, one Bronze, and a fifth place—in addition to fond memories of a quite unique week in France.

The Pair event was won by the Russians Helena Kavitchenko and Rasnid Kadyrkaev. They took the lead in the short program ahead of Kristin Kriwanek and Doug Williams, from the U.S. In the free, Isabelle Kourie and Guy Trudeau, from Canada, skated first in the last group. Their program included tricky new lifts as well as traditionally difficult jumps and spins, and allowed them to keep their third place.

Kristin Kriwanek and Doug Williams skated right after the Canadians. In spite of a fall on a throw Axel, they completed their program with class. A convincing smile on Kristin's face, as well as their slow period to the music of Cocoon, especially won them the favors of the audience. They got 5.2's and secured their second place.

Helena Kavitchenko and Rasnid Kadyrkaev were skating to a favorite, "Carmen?" Their powerful skating earned them from 5.2 to 5.5, and they won the event in spite of a missed triple jump. Last to skate were the French Sylvie Vaquero and Didier Manaud. They won strong applause from their home audience, and a deserved fourth place.

For the first time the Criterium included a Dance section, and it was no surprise that the beautiful rink of Tours was packed with skating lovers from all over the renowned Loire Valley, as well as from nearby Normandy.

The Russian dancers, Svetana Liapina and Georgi Sur, won the Original Set Pattern dance, ahead of Karen Knieriem and Leif Erickson, from the U.S. In the free, their inimitable Russian temper was expressed to Viennese music, an amazing number of steps per minute and a fantastic speed earned them warm applause—and first place.

It could be thought then that it would be hard to skate right after such a demonstration. However, another most brilliant show was ahead. What a thrill it was when Karen Knieriem and Leif Erickson started their program, raising from their icy grave to Saint-Saëns's "Danse Macabre"! Apparitions, resurrections, and even a gloomy eye pointed toward the audience: nothing was missing from their program, which, along with intricate moves, earned them second place overall.

French Isabelle Cousin and Martial Mette remained fourth. Jo-Anne Borlase and Scotl Chalmers, from Canada, concluded the event with a precise and clean program, and nicely completed the podium.

On the same evening, Katarina Witt, the East German Olympic champion, and Jozef Sabovcik, the Czechoslovakian European champion, skated an extra exhibition that would be long remembered, Jozef even demonstrating his powerful quadruple toe loop.

In the Ladies' competition, Cornelia Tesch, Federal Republic of Germany, was first after the short program. Her very artistic long free was not sufficient to secure her first place. She finished second overall. Skating next was Florence Copp, from France, whose strong program allowed her to beat Canadian Pamela Gianguialono for fourth place.

Then came Debbie Walls, from the U.S. The lack of technical difficulties in her program was compensated by clean jumps and step sequences, her beautiful line and enthusiasm on ice. Debbie, coming from fourth place after the short, could earn third place on the podium—and she did.

Constanze Gensel, from the German Democratic Republic, undoubtedly won the event. Her delicate skating, and the constant devotion of herself both to her art and to the public, gave her an almost Asian grace. But when the time came for jumping, she also proved to be the strongest: triple toe loops, triple flip and triple Salchow gave her her second victory in a row at Tours.

Christopher Bowman, from the U.S., won both the short and the free with ease. In the free, the Hungarian music he skated to was equal to his temperament. He executed a faultless program, including five different triple jumps and creative spins. Most important, it was a program in which his class in skating was always obvious.

Danish Lars Dresler completed a technically very strong program including two triple Lutzs, and finished sixth overall. Scott Kurttila, from the U.S., missed a triple loop and finished fifth. French Frederic Harpages landed all of his five triple jumps to finish fourth.

Leonid Kaznakov, the blond Russian, was prompt to gather unanimous applause for his extraordinary step sequences and studied choreography. He finished second overall, ahead of Richard Zander, from the Federal Republic of Germany.

The traditional Sunday exhibitions were a good means to appreciate the nice job done by the organizers of the Criterium. In addition to the champions who had pleased, charmed, and convinced them, the audience applauded favorites Katarina Witt and Jozef Sabovcik, and the French Philippe Roncoli and Laurent Depouilly. And it was no coincidence if on Kristin Kriwanek and Doug Williams' exhibition T-shirts there was written a unanimous "J'aime Tours"!

THE BRITISH ICE DANCE CHAMPIONSHIPS 1985 NOTTINGHAM, ENGLAND NOVEMBER 16, 1985

by Howard Bass

Sharon Jones and Paul Askham from Altrincham are the new British Ice Dance champions. As the only contestants with World Championship experience, their graceful victory at Nottingham, England, on November 16 was unsurprisingly clearcut.

Much less predictable were the runners-up, Elizabeth Coates and Alan Abretti, who gained a vital verdict over their third-place fellow Londoners, Danielle Biss and David Crofts, to decide which couple would accompany the title winners to Geneva.

The smooth-flowing winners' cohesive free leg actions and neatly timed turns technically backed the charismatic appeal of this well-matched, handsome-looking couple.

Their Austrian Alpine theme in the Set Pattern Polka must have been a visual highlight of two hours of live Saturday afternoon TV coverage at the expense of soccer, Britain's national sport, which underlined the continuing wide interest which Torvill and Dean had so inspiringly fostered.

Jones, twenty-one, and Askham, twenty-three, trained by Joan Slater, have stepped ably into the breach left by the retiring champions, Karen Barber and Nicky Slater, and naturally now hope to spearhead the British overseas dance challenge up until the 1988 Calgary Olympics.

Diane Towler, the former World champion, doubtless will have different ideas. As coach of Coates and Abretti, she can feel justifiably optimistic and it is good for the nation that her charges are emerging so strongly.

For Biss and Crofts, whom many had expected to take the Silver, the outcome must have been a harsh setback after outpointing Coates and Abretti last season.

There was an understandable gap between the top three couples and the other four, the latter all making initial championship appearances, but the upsurge of Birmingham's fourth-placed Cheryl Rushton and Mark Poole was heartening.

South Atlantic

Over 200 skaters participated in the nineteen events of the 1986 South Atlantic Championships November 4-9, at the Mt. Lebanon Recreation Center Ice Arena. Hosted by the Ice and Blades Club of Washington, Pennsylvania, the event included skaters from twenty-one clubs.

Senior Pairs with five teams competing provided the most excitement. The final standings found Ginger and Archie Tse of the SC of Wilmington in first place. Their long program with its Asian flavor captivated the audience. They were followed by Craig Maurizi and his new partner Maradith Feinberg of the Philadelphia SC and HS. The Bronze went to Elaine Asanakis and Christopher Hefner of the SC of Wilmington. Fourth place qualifiers were April Malakoff, La Jolla FSC and Karl Kurtz, Hershey FSC.

SENIOR LADIES

Laura Steele, Gold; Rosanna Tovi, Silver;
Holly Archinal, Bronze

Despite an injury Laura Steele, representing the Atlanta FSC, captured the Gold in Senior Ladies competition. Skating an excellent long program with a strong double Axel Steele excited the audience with her style and charisma. Rosanna Tovi, Atlanta FSC, and Holly Archinal, Philadelphia SC and HS, finished second and third with programs that included proficient double jump combinations.

In his first competition in the Senior division, Doug Mattis, 1985 National Junior Champion, got off to an impressive start by winning figures and the short program. The Philadelphia SC and HS skater opened his long program with a fine triple Lutz combination and seemed unbeatable until an unfortunate fall near the end of his program left him dazed and shakey. James Bond music. Barbara and Peter Buch representing the SC of Wilmington were second. Their fluid, graceful style was complimented by delicate piano music in the free skating program.

Junior Ladies provided a tantalizing glimpse of the future for ladies skating. Despite the strain of six days competition Elisa Scheuermann, Philadelphia SC and HS, skated consistently throughout the week. Having been second to Katie White in the initial round she came back with a strong performance in the final round to place first in each segment and win the Gold. The Silver winner Katie White, Philadelphia SC and HS; opened her long program with a high double Axel, challenging her competition. Lily Lee of the Washington FSC, in third place after figures, and second in the short program, skated well in the long program which ended in a tie, which when broken gave the winning edge to White. These ladies should provide exciting skating competition in future events.

For the Junior Men, 1985 National Novice Champion Todd Eldredge, Philadelphia SC and HS, got off to a strong start winning all three figures; however, a poor short program dropped him to second. Jon Robinson, a Scott Hamilton look-a-like from the Stone Mountain FSC, skated strongly, with a triple toe loop-double loop combination, winning both the short and long free skating portions to finish first. Joseph Radomile, Philadelphia SC and HS, skated consistently and won the Bronze.

Consistent skating kept Ann-Marie and Brian Wells, SC of Wilmington, out in front throughout the event. Amelia and David Hill, Atlanta FSC, skated nicely to win the Silver and Lisa Massingale and Jeb Rand, Atlanta FSC, captured the Bronze.

In Junior Dance, Lisa Grove, Pittsburgh FSC, and Charles Sinek, SC of Wilmington, moved into an early and commanding lead with their smooth compulsory dances. Their crisp and authentic original set pattern polka served well to increase their lead over Ellen Altschuler, Philadelphia SC and HS, and Bruce Montemayor, SC of Wilmington, who took the Silver. Kineta King, SC of Wilmington, and Shawn Rettstatt, Dallas FSC, were third. All three partnerships were new-

Novice Ladies with thirty-two entrants was a closely contested event. Mary-Anne Morgan, Atlanta FSC; Jane Wick, Philadelphia SC and HS; and Shana Tremer, Philadelphia SC and HS, the eventual top medal winners each won their preliminary flights. After being second in final round figures, Morgan skated a nearly flawless program to win that segment and finish with the Gold. Wick, first in figures, finished behind Morgan in free skating to win the Silver. After the program Tremer, Elena Tolmelden, Washington FSC, and Cheryl Izzo, Wissahickon SC, were tied for third. Tremer, who came back from an eighth-place figure standing, placed third on least total majority, and Tomelden edged out Izzo on least total ordinals for the fourth position.

Atlanta FSC's Colin Vander Veen took an early lead, winning all three figures in the Novice Men's event. Vander Veen followed with a well-paced free skating program to remain in first place. The Silver medal went to Pete Roberson, Atlanta FSC, who was second in the free skating after being fifth in figures. Skating in third place throughout the competition was David Warnke of Wissahickon FSC. Robert Morris, Philadelphia SC and HS, captured the fourth qualifying position thus qualifying for two events at Easterns.

The fourth place qualifiers were Leslie Cline and Kirk Strotman of the Ice and Blades Club of Washington.

Geremi Weiss of the Washington FSC lead the Intermediate Ladies the entire week. In the final round she skated a perfect program including two double Axels and a triple Salchow. The competition for the three remaining qualifying positions was tight, ending in Intermediate Men provided free wheeling competition as Clifford Retamar, SC of Wilmington, skating a fine long program, pulled up from fourth place in figures to win the Gold. Christopher Lincoln, Philadelphia SC and HS, after winning the figures dropped to fifth in the free skating portion to finish second overall and collect his second Silver medal. The most spectacular recovery was provided by Bowie FSC's Frank Fico, last in figures, he placed second in free skating to

THE BRITISH FIGURE SKATING CHAMPIONSHIPS 1985

SOLIHULL, ENGLAND
NOVEMBER 26-27, 1985

by Howard Bass

An appreciative crowd at Solihull warmly saluted Joanne Conway, Britain's new queen of the ice, after some remarkable free skating which dethroned Susan Jackson, twenty, the far more experienced title defender.

Joanne, fourteen, from Sunderland, thus became—except for Yvonne Sugden in 1953—the youngest victor since the pre-war triumphs of Cecilia Colledge and Megan Taylor.

The manner of the youngster's success was cool, methodic, and clearcut, firmly outpointing Susan at every stage with all seven judges placing her first overall.

Susan was adjudged runner-up with equally consistent unanimity. The outcome was not so much a failure on the part of Jackson, as more the emergence of a new, increasingly irresistible force.

Conway, champion a year before most had dared to predict, demonstrated a style, confidence, and technical potential to suggest that, in view of her youth, she may eventually become Britain's most successful woman skater since Jeannette Altwegg, the 1952 Olympic champion.

The highlights of Conway's long free were three impressive triples—two Salchows and a triple toe loop—and a versatile repertoire of well-presented spins. To put her achievement in fair perspective, it must be stressed that this was only her second Senior competition, just two months after finishing third in the St. Ivel International. She is coached by Carlo and Christa Fassi in Colorado Springs.

Stephen Pickavance from Billingham retained the Men's title, with Paul Robinson again runner-up. The winner landed three good triples, not including the Lutz, which Robinson performed well before falling from a triple loop, which put the issue beyond doubt.

Cheryl Peake and Andrew Naylor of Nottingham became the new Pair champions, overhauling brother and sister Neil and Lisa Cushley after the title defenders had led in the short. It was the victors' second attempt as a partnership, but Naylor had previously competed three times with his former partner.

The new winners had made rapid progress during the preceding two months and their best elements were a throw triple Axel, a throw double loop, and a double twist lift.

The British team chose to compete at the European Championships in Copenhagen from January 27 to February 1, comprises: Men—Stephen Pickavance; Ladies—Joanne Conway and Susan Jackson; Pairs—Cheryl Peake and Andrew Naylor; and Dance—Sharon Jones and Paul Askham and Elizabeth Coates and Alan Abretti.

The spacious Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum, welcomed skaters back to Omaha for the first time in eleven years as the Figure Skating Club of Omaha hosted the 1986 Southwestern Regional Figure Skating Championships, November 3-9 in Omaha, Nebraska. With perfect Omaha fall weather to greet the skaters upon their arrival the competition was begun and ended on schedule thanks to the Chief Referee, Mr. Will Smith, and the Chief Accountant, Ms. Marilyn Goldstein, and their assistants, our terrific volunteers, and the tremendous backing from the entire staff at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Due to injuries and byes, four Senior Ladies took the ice. Kris Morzinski, Denver FSC, turned in a strong freestyle program to take the Gold. Cindy Ponder, Broadmoor SC, the leader after figures and short program, placed second, with Renee Starnes, Colorado SC, third and Adrianna Swarts, Rocky Mountain FSC, fourth.

The California sun shone brightly in Newbury Park for seven of the eight days of the Southwest Pacific Regional Championships sponsored by the Conejo Valley Figure Skating Club. Nine precision teams in addition to over 200 competitors took to the ice November 7-10 and November 14-17 aiming for the top spots in their respective groups.

From a field of ten Senior Ladies Debbie LaVerde emerged the winner having placed first in figures and short program. Kelly Burgess who secured the second spot overall won the freestyle, landing a triple Salchow and double Axels in her program. Both girls represented the Los Angeles FSC. Kimberly Drenser, Arctic Blades FSC, was third com-placed and Mindy Flynn, Arizona FSC, was fourth.

John Filbig won the two-man contest for Senior Champion demonstrating a mature, well-balanced program dotted with beautiful high triples and double Axels. His triple Lutz-double loop combination in short program was superb. John was on his way to represent the USA in Zagreb, Yugoslavia. Troy Goldstein, in second place, highlighted his routine with fancy footwork and hand movements connecting his double Axels and combination jumps. Both Senior Men represented Los Angeles FSC.

SENIOR PAIRS

Kellee Murchison & Bob Pellaton, Silver

Katy Keeley and Joseph Mero of San Diego FSC maintained their Southwest Championship Pairs title over the newly-teamed Kellee Murchison, Arctic Blades FSC, and Bob Pellaton, La Jolla FSC.

Cindy Bortz, Los Angeles FSC, proved to be a tough competitor among the twenty-six Junior Ladies as she claimed first place across the board in both initial and final rounds. Cindy's triple toe-double loop combination in short program was spectacular and her dynamic presentation of her long program with high double Axels, triple Salchow and triple loop aroused loud cheers from the crowd. Rory Flack, San Diego FSC, pulled up from a sixth in figures to second combined as she challenged Cindy with well-executed jumps and excellent musical interpretation. A triple toe Walley-double loop combination rounded out the required elements in her short program and an outside camel with bent knee into a Biellmann provided interest in her long program. A back lunge into a double Axel, high split jumps, triple toe and double Lutz-double toe combination were some of Rory's freeskating maneuvers demonstrating her prowess. Juli Stevens, Los Angeles FSC, who was the third place medalist, landed a triple Salchow and double combinations, and Jennifer Itoh, Los Ange-

Alex was second in freeskating, third combined. Jeff Carstensen, Arctic Blades FSC, was fourth and Fritz Steinheider, Los Angeles FSC, fifth.

The new team of Ashley Stevenson, San Diego FSC, and Scott Wendland, All Year FSC, earned the top spot in Junior Pairs with Christina Kopp and Rick Scarry, both of All Year FSC, in second place and Tammy Purcell and Patrick Hancock of San Diego FSC in third place.

This year's competition was sponsored by the Overlake Skating Club and held at the Sno King Ice Arena in Lynnwood, Washington. Even with "Seattle's Liquid Sunshine" attempting to dampen the spirits of this event, the enthusiasm of all were high. With the dedicated support of all officials, volunteers, and arena staff, the event ended on Saturday evening with the charisma that only figure skaters can offer a full house.

There were no Senior Ladies events this year. The Gold medal for Senior Men was awarded to Scott Kurtilla, Seattle SC, after his romantic and expressive freestyle filled with doubles and triples skated to pieces of music from New York, New York. His runner up and Silver medalist was Steven Rice, Lakewood WC, who showed he was making a place for himself in the world of skating.

The Junior Ladies freestyle event had some ambitious ladies skating their hearts out. Dena Galech, Seattle SC, was able to acquire the Gold medal after placing first in all portions of the competition. Her exciting program was opened with a triple loop and closed with enough energy for a combination run including double flip and double loop. Kimberly Abbott, Portland ISC, received the Silver medal after pulling up from fourth in figures and short program. She showed good strong spins throughout her program. Joelle Piccolini, Sun Valley FSC, received the Bronze medal after a flawless freestyle program and displaying a beautiful Ina Bower.

Novice Ladies had a skate off after a two group lead off. The final eight skaters were narrowed down to Berkley Villard, Lilac City FSC, who gave a most enthusiastic display of talent and choreography in her program resulting in a Gold medal for first place in all categories. She was followed with a Silver medal by Tracy Vopnford, Seattle SC, who managed to keep continuing her well choreographed program after a minor skate problem. The Bronze medal was awarded to Kelly Moller, Overlake SC, after a delightful program.

Novice Pairs has a specially talented young couple coming up in the ranks of skating. Tonya Zuehlke and Jeffrey Black, Silver Skate FSC, showed grace and uniformity in their program winning them the Gold. Equally talented were the couple from Anchorage FSC, Cindy Dankworth and James Kelsey winning the Silver with strong pair lifts in their program. Christine and Elton Reid, Portland ISC, received the Bronze with good musical interpretation of their program.

Nicole Welsh, Great Falls FSC, was able to gain the Gold medal in the Intermediate Ladies event after pulling up from fifth in figures. Christine Walters, Lakewood WC, was able to exhibit great composure and a good program despite one of her blades coming loose in warmup. She received second place. The team of Maria Lynn Bestor, South Bay FSC, and Tom Zepko, Los Angeles FSC, were the winners of the five-couple Intermediate Dance event. Holly Vessichelli and Greg Levorchick of La Jolla FSC were in second place with Caroline Menard and Karim-Youri Aityata of the SC of Phoenix in third.

Thirty-seven Juvenile Girls made their Southwest debut and Rebeca Contreras, Los Angeles FSC, became the champion. Natasha Kuchiki, Conejo Valley FSC, was second, Jennifer Vega, Los Angeles FSC, was third and Shari Strahl, Los Angeles FSC, was fourth.

Adult Dance was won by Brigit Luciani, San Diego FSC, and Robert Engle, La Jolla FSC. The "Fabulous Forties" Precision team from the Los Angeles FSC reigned as the winning adult team as they made time to some Glenn Miller favorites.

The San Diego Ice Blazers were the winning Novice Precision team and the San Diego Starlights were judged the best of the four Juvenile Precision teams.

A few personal glimpses: The Conejo Valley FSC produced its own vocalist as Dawn Walters sang a moving A Capella rendition of our National Anthem. In back of the rink a 40 x 40 tent served as headquarters for Hospitality for the judges and officials. Two motor homes served as "kitchens" near the tent.

The final evening culminated with the presentation of the Travelers Award of Merit to Ian MacInnes for his outstanding contribution to the sport of figure skating. The skies reddened over the distant hills in the horizon as the skaters headed for home to train hard for Pacific Coasts or to begin working on that next test!

NOW JUMP TENDER™

Has Rink Units For On-Ice Practice

JUMP TENDER, that self-tending safety suspension unit which takes the falls out of practice, is now available in rink units for on-ice practice. The unique training aid, first developed for floor practice at home and in rinks, travels along an overhead mounted tracking carriage generally located across the end of a rink so as not to interfere with other skaters on the ice. A simple-to-use support line attaches to a comfortable parachute type harness worn by the skater. The skater has the freedom to move the length of the tract to practice but is stopped in a fall at knee height above the ice by means of a spring-loaded pulley system. Without fear of falling, skaters more quickly acquire the FORM and FEEL of double and triple jumps. Unlike the customary harness, JUMP TENDER is self-tending. Pros find it an invaluable instructional tool. Skaters call it an amazing training aid.

CARE PACKAGE

When you pack a thermos of piping-hot Campbell's® Soup alongside that sandwich, you're packing your child's lunch box with a lot more than you think.

Take Campbell's Chicken Vegetable Soup, for instance. You probably make it because it's a good way to get your child to eat vegetables, but it's also a good source of vitamin A. So is our Beef Soup, by the way. And Campbell's four tomato soups aren't just delicious, they're a good source of vitamin C, too.

You might pack one of our cream soups because it's so warm and soothing, but when it's made with an equal amount of milk, it's a good source of calcium.

There are a lot of reasons to send Campbell's Soup along. In fact, there are a lot of Campbell's Soups. Which means you can pack a different one every day and make that same old sandwich seem a lot more interesting.

But the best reason is that these Campbell's Soups show you care. Not just about giving your child something that tastes good and is good for them, but something that makes your child feel good.

And when you can pack all that into one lunch box, that makes it a very special package.

CAMPBELL'S SOUP IS GOOD FOOD

Campbell's has a full line of low sodium soups for those people who are on a salt-restricted diet or have a concern about sodium.
