Dear Readers:

We continue to receive an overwhelming response to our magazine redesign. We appreciate all of the many compliments, constructive (usually) criticism and suggestions or comments. The Hurrays! far outweigh the Boos! so we feel that we're headed in the right direction but, we also believe in equal time. Please continue to forward any other skating or USFSA questions or concerns and we will respond to those as well. Meanwhile, humor us for one or two more issues while we accept the "ataboys" and strive to work through our growing pains—such as hard-to-read competition results.

With regard to the many queries the USFSA has received about the Tonya Harding allegations and the attack on Nancy Kerrigan, we will plan to run an up-to-date report of events in the April issue of Skating and comprehensive information in other future issues as necessary. Since the sequence of events is reported daily by the national media, any information we would print in this issue would quickly be outdated.

HURRAYS!

Dear Editor:

I would like to congratulate you on the new format of Skating magazine. I used to be a subscriber of (another skating magazine) and cancelled just in time to renew my subscription to Skating for the new format. I truly enjoy the articles and pictures, and unlike any other magazine, I read all the ads as well! Your interviews are more on the personal side of the skater which is much more interesting than just hearing about their "on ice" life.

Thanks for being the best, Skating!

Laurie Ann Dill
San Jacinto, California

Dear Editor:

I am 13 years old and I figure skate. I have gotten Skating magazine for some years now. I just got the December issue. I read some of the complaints inside and I disagree with them.

A lot of people are saying that they don't like the "glossy" magazine. They said that Miss Kwan, who has sneakers on and is hanging over a swimming pool, did nothing to support the fact that it was the first new magazine of Skating. I am a serious skater, but I do agree with you that skaters have lives beyond the rink.

I will go along with what ever magazine you pick, but I do wish that you continue to write articles about the skaters' lives beyond the rink. I would also ask if you could print the competition results and tests passed like you did in the smaller magazine.

Carolyn Tarsa
Duxbury, Massachusetts

Dear Editor:

When I first got the Skating magazine in its new form I loved it! I don't understand why people that have written in to you don't like it. Other people that I skate with love the new form. We feel the magazine is more like a real magazine. I now like to read the magazine more because of its new form. I love how you place the pictures. On a scale of 1-10, I would give it a 10. I hope to see interviews with Baiul and Browning.

Lauren M. Navalkowsky
Lancaster, Pennsylvania

Dear Lauren:

We're trying to chase down Kurt Browning for an interview—watch future issues of Skating...and, look at a June '93 issue of Skating to find an article on Oksana Baiul written immediately following her World championship title last year.

SINGER SKATER

There has always been an element of show business in figure skating, but 7-year-old Brittany Ozier, a member of the Dallas FSC, has taken that element to new heights. Equipped with a wireless microphone headset and battery pack, she provides her own vocal accompaniment for her free skating as she skates. Before becoming a club member, Ozier, who began skating at the age of 4, was enrolled in the USFSA Basic Skills Program. She is coached by Peter and Darlene Cain. Ozier also has been taking voice lessons from Dee Anne Meece for over a year.

However, it was not until Sudafed Skate America International was held in Dallas last fall that any thought was given to combining Ozier's two talents. Her skating coaches had been chosen to choreograph the opening ceremonies for Skate America. During that time Ozier was working on a song, "Believe in Yourself," with her voice coach. Mrs. Ozier felt that the song had a fitting message for the competitors at Skate America and approached the Cains with a tape her daughter had made of it. The Cains were impressed with the song as well as Ozier's vocal performance. It was then that Darlene Cain had a brainstorm. What if Ozier not only sang the song during the opening ceremonies but also free skated to it as she sang? Although she had never attempted this before and had little time to practice, Ozier came through like a trooper as anyone who attended the opening ceremonies will testify. In fact, her performance was such a hit with the officials and judges as well as the audience which gave her a standing ovation that she was asked to perform on two more occasions during the competition—opening both the ladies' free skating event and the Exhibition of Champions.

Since Skate America, Ozier has become a local celebrity, with three area newspapers featuring articles about her. Also, together with her voice coach, she sang on a Christmas special for a local cable television show. And she has been slated to sing-skate before the professional hockey games of the Dallas Freeze and to sing the National Anthem before games of the Dallas Mavericks professional basketball team. All pretty heady stuff for someone who was previously just a second-grader at the Hockaday School for girls. Yet Orzier has managed to keep it all in perspective—for her the greatest reward that has come from her performance at Skate America was that she was able to meet skaters like Brian Boitano and Peggy Fleming.

SKATER NAMED AS SUPER FINALIST

Shaun Rodman recently was named as one of the 12 Super Finalists for the 1994 Sportsgirl of the Year award by 'TEEN' magazine. Candidates for Sportsgirl of the Year are judged on their leadership, sportsmanship, sports skills, and academic standing. A field of nearly 7,000 entries was narrowed down to 48 semifinalists, then to 24 finalists, and is now down to 12 super finalists. Rodman, a member of the La Jolla FSC, has passed the USFSA's Juvenile Free Skating and Pre-Silver Dance Tests. The 16-year-old resident of Bonita, Calif. is in her junior year of independent study through the Sweetwater School District of Chula Vista, Calif. The winner and second-place winner will be announced in the April 1994 issue of 'TEEN' magazine. The Sportsgirl of the Year will be awarded a $10,000 college scholarship donated by Tampax Tampons and 'TEEN'.

FAMILY AFFAIR

For the Tiedemanns of Castro Valley, Calif., skating is a family affair spanning three generations. Recently, 11-year-old Eric was taken through his Preliminary Dance tests by his grandmother, Jean Robinson, an International Singles and Pairs Judge and World Dance Judge. At the same time, 9-year-old Kara was taken through her Preliminary Dance tests by her father, skating professional R. Monte Tiedemann, U.S.

Dance bronze medalist in 1968 and 1969 with partner Debbie Gerken and a member of the 1969 World Team. The Tiedemanns and Robinson are members of the St. Moritz ISC.

SHE'S BACK!

Three-time Olympic Champion and figure skating's original golden girl, Sonja Henie, will be returning to the television screen thanks to a new line of home videos from Fox Video. Hollywood's Golden Age is a series of videos showcasing the most interesting films and film personalities from the 1920's through the 1950's.

The series debuts with The Sonja Henie Collection in honor of the XVII Olympic Winter Games held in Norway, Henie's homeland. The films featured in this collection are One in a Million, Thin Ice, Happy Landing, My Lucky Star, Everything Happens at Night, Iceland, and Wintertime. This is the first time these films have been available for sale and are priced at $19.98 each. ■

DECEASED

Evelyn Chandler Mapes Baer, former competitive and professional skater, died on January 17 at the age of 87. Baer was the U.S. Junior Ladies' Champion in 1929. During the 1930's and 40's, she starred in Shipstad & Johnson's Ice Follies as well as other skating shows. Along with Sonja Henie, she popularized ice skating as a form of entertainment. In addition to being the featured soloist of the Ice Follies, she also skated pair numbers with her husband Bruce Mapes. The couple taught skating at the Broadmoor World Arena during the summer of 1943. Baer was known for having originated the Arabian Cartwheel and for her outstanding open Axel jump. A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., she lived for many years in the New Jersey Shore area. Baer was the widow of Dr. Irving Baer, a dermatologist, who passed away in 1991. Baer's children, Bruce Mapes, Jr., Jerry Mapes, and daughter Susan Mapes, were all well known professional skaters.

Diane Anderson Brown, a skating coach who taught in the New England area for 20 years, died on January 20 at 50 years of age. Representing the Seattle SC, Brown competed in the Northwest Pacific Regionals, winning a silver medal in Senior Pairs in 1963 with partner John Swanson and a bronze in 1964. Following her amateur career, Brown skated professionally with the Ice Follies for four years and was a silver medalist in the World Professional Championships. She was a member of the Professional Skaters Guild of America and an honorary member of the Pawtucket-

Providence FSC. She is survived by her husband, Robert K. Brown, her father, Douglas Anderson, her brother, Richard Anderson, a daughter, Heather Rae Brown, and a son, Robert Kevin Brown, Jr.

Mary Ann Helmers-Kemme, former singles competitor, show skater, and skating coach, succumbed to leukemia on January 9. She was 43 years old. Helmers-Kemme began her amateur skating career at the age of 8. As a member of the Philadelphia SC & HS, she won the bronze medal in Junior Ladies in the 1967 South Atlantic Regional Championships after having placed seventh in the Eastern Sectional Championships a year earlier. In 1968, she began her professional skating career as a soloist in the Ice Follies. The following year she moved to Europe where she was a lead soloist for the German Theatre on Ice for two years, a soloist for the Kurt Soening International Ice Revue in Switzerland for eight years, and a soloist in Casa Carioica in West Germany for over a year. She turned to coaching in 1977 and most recently taught at the Queen City FSC in Cincinnati, Ohio and the All Seasons Ice Center in Crescent Springs, Ky. Helmers-Kemme had a special relationship with her students to whom she taught not only the techniques needed to succeed in skating, but also the values needed to succeed in life. She is survived by her husband Paul B. Kemme, two daughters, Caroline, 7, and Catherine, 3, her parents, John F. Helmers and Mary Ann Helmers, and two brothers, Robert Duff Helmers and J. Spencer Helmers.■

Dear Editor:

I love your new Skating magazine! The pictures are great and your articles have much more information about the skaters. Your cover photos are wonderful! I love the glossy finish. For the first time, I read your magazine rather than just looking at the pictures! I have no complaints about your new format. Please keep up the good work.

Lindsay Gilliam
Santa Rosa, California

Dear Editor:

I think your new magazine is terrific, but may I make a few suggestions? In my state where ice rinks are non-existent, it is entirely impossible to find pictures/posters of skaters. Could I suggest that you might include large, full length pictures of popular skaters? The pictures you use are good but they are so small. Also, thanks for the great interview with Nancy Kerrigan! Could I also suggest that in the future, you do interviews with international skaters such as Kurt Browning? I'm a big fan of his, but hardly ever see media coverage of him. Other than that, your magazine is GREAT!!!! Keep up the good work!

Courtenay Verret
Monroe, Louisiana

Dear Courtenay:

The USFSA has a new 14" x 27" Olympic Team poster available through the Headquarters office at (719) 635-5200. The poster features individual poses of each of the Team members as well as a group photo taken in Detroit, Mich., following the U.S. Championships. We'll keep working on the size of our pictures in future issues. Space permitting, we will run "posters" in future issues.

BOOS!

Dear Editor:

I have been involved in both roller and ice skating on a social level for many years and dutifully subscribe to all of the trade skating newspaper/magazines. Professionally I am a proofreader and thusly I couldn't read one more issue of Skating without comment on your new layout and design. When someone designs any reading material, be it book or magazine they have to keep in mind the reader and the joy one's eye takes in scanning the page. Therefore your "busy" design ideas implemented in the new Skating format is lovely on an initial eye level glance but when the copy is mixed within the photographs, graced with numerous typos, wide word spacing and competition results so small one needs a microscope to fathom what the placements were it seems to me that your so-called "Phillip Morris" layout mentioned in Beverly Kimes letter was only half thought out. At least their magazine is proofread for errors. I say, "Glitz is a great enhancement to any reading material only if it is matched with typographical accuracies and style."

HALL OF FAME

RICHARD DWYER
UNITED STATES

by Jo Lawless,
Chair of World Hall of Fame Electors

The 1948 U.S. Championships, held at the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs, marked the national debut of one of the most talented skaters the United States ever produced, 12-year-old Richard Dwyer, representing the Los Angeles FSC. Eugene Turner (a National Champion and Hall of Fame member) watched as his famous pupil amassed five first place votes from the judges to win the Novice men's title.

Quoting from the "Turner Skating Newsletter" for September 1980, Turner wrote, "It was right after returning home from service that I first saw Richard Dwyer. He was about 9 then, a first tester, sharp, a natural and raring to skate. For five years it was pure adventure, not really teaching, just guiding. Richard needed nothing but a guide. He already knew. It lay inside, just waiting for the time to emerge. When it came, it flowed like you would drink water. I merely introduced him to things, though he mostly just watched others and imitated."

The Broadmoor SC again hosted the U.S. Championships in 1949, and Dwyer amazed veterans in the sport by winning the Junior championships just a year after winning the Novice championship. In 1950, he won the bronze medal in Senior men at age 14.

But then came an offer from Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson of the Ice Follies that would change his life forever. In June 1950, he became "Mr. Debonaire" and began a tour with the Ice Follies that would last for 30 years.

Always an "A" student while a competitor, Dwyer completed high school with the Ice Follies, studying at Jesuit high schools along the route of the show. Then, for 22 years, he went to summer school classes at the University of San Francisco and at 39, received his bachelor's degree.

"Mr. Debonaire" is perhaps the most famous professional skater living today. His record of starring with the Ice Follies for 30 consecutive years will probably never be broken by any skating star with any show. Dwyer is truly a role model for today's young skaters.

For the past few years, he has made appearances with Ice Capades, and in 1989, began to tour with them full time. He has also performed in the United Arab Emirates, Hong Kong, and numerous benefit shows. Dwyer loves to perform and skate—he intends to go on doing so as long as he is able.

Eugene Turner summed up Dwyer's career best when he wrote, "He has never changed. Through all these years he has stayed the same eager, thirsting guy I first knew, always putting out 100% and always seeming to find the next day an adventure."

HALL OF FAME

RONALD ROBERTSON
UNITED STATES

by Jo Lawless,
Chair of World Hall of Fame Electors

The talent of Ronald Robertson is succinctly summed up by his nickname. Called "The Blur" because no other skater could spin faster, Robertson was clocked by the University of Michigan NASA Research Center at six revolutions per second—rotating at 120 miles per hour! In addition to his phenomenal spins, he had extraordinary reserves of energy, giving him the ability to execute 45 butterflies or 36 Axels in a row.

In order to counter the effects of encephalitis, Robertson began skating when he was 5 years old. By the time he was 12, in 1947, he won his first title, Juvenile boys, at the California State Championships, representing the Arctic Blades FSC. His career progressed rapidly after that; in 1950 he won national Novice men, and in 1952, national Junior men. Most of his training took place at the Broadmoor under Edi Scholdan. Later he was coached by Gus Lussi at Lake Placid.

Competing at a time when figures counted for 60% of the total score, Ronnie's free skating was legendary. Here is a brief review of his career at the Senior level:

1953 - Silver Medal, Nationals. Won the Oscar L. Richard Award for the most outstanding free skating performance.

1954 - Bronze Medal, Nationals.

1955 - Silver Medal, Worlds. (He did not compete at Nationals due to illness.) He won free skating and was awarded one perfect "6.0." The judges noted his tremendous jumps, which included a triple loop, the amazing speed of his spins, and his fieldwork which was performed with true musical interpretation.

1956 - Silver Medal, Nationals, Worlds, Olympics. He won the free skating portion at Worlds and Olympics. At Nationals, he was again awarded the Oscar L. Richard Trophy.

Joining Ice Capades after the 1956 Olympics, Ronnie began to carve out his professional career. He starred with Ice Capades for six years. He won the World Professional Championships in 1958 and 1974. In 1964 he skated at the New York World's Fair, and from 1964 to 1971 toured the world with Holiday on Ice. Then he began to coach, while occasionally performing in shows.

After a 12-year retirement, spent pursuing other interests, the lure of skating drew him back and he is now teaching at Iceland in Paramount, Calif.

Once asked about his fondest skating memories, Robertson did not hesitate, "Growing up in skating at the Broadmoor. A hundred times over growing up in skating wouldn't be enough of a great thing."

Ronald Robertson was elected to the World Figure Skating Hall of Fame in 1993. ■

SEPARATION OF FIGURES AND FREE SKATING

There has been much discussion, concern, and confusion over the "figures issue" by many of the constituents of the USFSA. Even at meetings at the recent U.S. Championships, many people were confused about the proposal that is being considered and what it means. This article is an effort to put the issue in understandable terms.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEETING

REPORT OF ACTION: COMPETITIONS COMMITTEE, ITEM #6

OCTOBER 8-9, 1993

"Approved to hold separate events at Qualifying competitions—No Combined Events. Each discipline will have its own competition and qualification to compete will be solely based on passing tests in that discipline, i.e. figure tests for figure events, free skating tests for free skating events, dance tests for dance events, and pair tests for pair events."

It is important to understand that this action will come before the 1994 Governing Council for final approval. It may pass in this form, may be modified, or may be completely rejected. The USFSA Governing Council is the final authority on this proposal. At this stage, this proposal has passed the USFSA Competitions Committee and has been approved by the USFSA Board of Directors.

If passed, this rule change would become effective October 1, 1994 and thus become effective for the 1995-1996 competitive season. Only if this proposal was passed and declared "urgent" would it become effective any sooner. Another proposal has Regional entry deadlines as September 15, 1994 for all the upcoming Regional championships. If passed, Regionals and Sectionals being held in the fall of 1994 would abide by the current rules and this separation would become effective for Regionals and Sectionals being held in the fall of 1995.

CLARIFICATION

This rule proposal will mean that all competitions would no longer have combined events as they currently exist in qualifying competitions at the Intermediate level and below. Qualification to compete would be based solely on the level of accomplishment in the chosen discipline (i.e. free skating, compulsory figures, etc.)

Skaters could compete at the appropriate level in either figures or free skating without ever having participated in the other discipline. As an example, a skater could compete at the Intermediate ladies event in free skating if the skater has passed the Intermediate free skating test. It would not be required that the skater pass any figure tests to compete at any level of free skating.

This will make compulsory figures and free skating events separate events as are dance and pairs. There would then be four major disciplines rather than three. Further, non-qualifying competitions may offer any combination of events with chief referee approval.

However, this does not mean that "figures are being elimi-

1994 USFSA Spring Meeting of the USFSA Board of Directors

May 3-5, 1994

1994 Annual Meeting of the USFSA Governing Council

May 6-7, 1994

NEWPORT ISLANDER
DOUBLETREE HOTEL

nated." There is a place for compulsory figures. The test structure in figures would continue, competitions would continue and a national champion would be crowned each year at each appropriate level of competition.

Coaches have the responsibility of directing skaters into the activity that would be most beneficial to their development. If it is believed that figures are essential to developing the edge quality, control, and balance that good free skaters must have, then this should be explained to the skaters and their parents. Many good free skaters take instruction in ballet, jazz, weight training, and other forms of complementary activities to assist their development as competent skaters. Compulsory figures could be included in this development if they are considered essential to this growth.

Much like the pianist who practices scales and exercises, the skaters could assist their development with the compulsory figures. Ice dancers frequently work on their compulsory figure tests in order to improve their skating quality. Free skaters frequently work on their dance tests in order to improve their posture and skating quality. All of these disciplines interact and complement each other, assisting skaters in becoming better athletes in their chosen discipline. However, the free skaters that are passing their ice dance tests do not necessarily compete in ice dance but many have earned a USFSA gold medal in ice dancing.

Skaters that excel (or simply want to participate) in compulsory figures could compete in this discipline for national titles. Creativity in developing a competition structure could assist with the development of the compulsory figures discipline. Committees are actively working to formulate new innovative ideas to stimulate the growth of compulsory figures.

Separating the competitive events and test qualifications to compete in the different levels have been discussed at great length. If compulsory figures are believed to be critical to the development of figure skaters, then skaters in all disciplines should be required to develop their skills with compulsory figures.

REMOVAL OF THE COMPULSORY FIGURES FROM THE U.S. CHAMPIONSHIPS

A separate portion of the issue on compulsory figures is the proposal to remove all compulsory figure events from the U.S. Championships. This concept was presented by the Nationals Review Task Force and passed by the Board of Directors at the Fall Board of Directors Meeting. This, too, must be approved by the USFSA Governing Council before it can become effective.

The Nationals Review Task Force was formed to offer recommendations to reduce the size of the current U.S. Championships. This recommendation was one of many considered by this committee. The committee was comprised of a cross section of skating experts including judges, officials, coaches and athletes.

The Compulsory Figures Advisory Committee is actively pursuing many options available to place the national championships for compulsory figures should this recommendation be passed.

There have been a number of different meetings and many discussions on these issues. Below are listed a number of the most common thoughts regarding this proposal:

Reasons in Favor of Separation of Figures and Free Skating:

1. Allows skaters to pursue chosen discipline;
2. Reduction in skaters expenses if only one discipline is chosen or if only one discipline is actively developed in the prime area of competitive pursuit;
3. Allows top free skaters or top compulsory figures skaters to not be slowed in their competitive progress by the inability to pass tests in the other discipline;
4. Allows for greater flexibility at competitions in scheduling events, practice ice, judging panels, etc.;
5. Skaters that wish to compete in both disciplines are free to do so; and
6. Increases time for development of the chosen discipline.

Reasons Opposed to Separation of Figures and Free Skating:

1. Free skaters will not develop the quality of edge and turning techniques without proper figure training.
2. Ice time could be lost in arenas to other sports if skaters do not participate in compulsory figures. With fewer skaters participating, arenas will no longer be able to afford to offer as many patch sessions. This would reduce the total ice availability for figure skating development.
3. The quality of skating in the United States could deteriorate if proper building block techniques are not developed.
4. The overall quality of compulsory figures will deteriorate.
5. Skaters participating in both compulsory figures and free skating may have to attend two separate national championships if figures are no longer a part of the current national championships.

We hope that this information will allow the USFSA Governing Council to make an informed decision on this critical matter. Should people wish to obtain further clarification, please contact any member of the USFSA Board of Directors or the USFSA Headquarters.

JUDGES BY SOME MORE NUMBERS

by Eleanor Curtis, USFSA Judges Committee Chair

My last article took a look at the ages and years of experience of USFSA judges as seen through the light of Membership Services records at Headquarters. These records throw an interesting light on the distribution of judges and their distribution of work. (See below.)

For example, each test judge in the New England Region is expected to judge 27 free skating tests per year while on the Pacific Coast eight or nine is the rule. Upper Great Lakes judges must preside over 25 per person, South Atlantic officials only about 15 apiece.

Competitions are interesting too. The overwhelming majority of our judges officiate at such events, over 92%. Low judges average three competitions each per year while gold judges participate in nine. Where do you suppose they go on vacation? Forty-six percent of judges are competition rated and only they can be used at regionals and sectionals. Of those, about half are Senior or national rank. As it works out, two thirds of our skaters compete below the Novice level.

The workload at competitions seems to be as variable as tests. Using the 1993 Regionals as a source tells us that New England had a workload of five entries per official (judges, referees, and accountants) while at Upper Great Lakes and Southwesterns it was 13.

Statistics such as these might put some to sleep but they make me curious. Why so much variation? Does it mean we need a better balance of judges to workload? To answer that question, the Judges Committee has sent questionnaires to referees and club test chairs to see what they have to say about our supply of judges and their availability. Stay tuned.■

An Introduction to the Adult Skaters Advisory Committee (ASAC)

by Joe Kaplenk, Chair

The Adult Skaters Advisory Committee was formed nearly two years ago by a group of concerned Adults. At that time, Joe Kaplenk was appointed by USFSA President Claire W. Ferguson to chair the committee and bring issues of concern forward to the USFSA. This was done in an effort to further develop grassroots programs for all age groups and skill levels. Watch future issues of Skating for more specifics on what the USFSA and ASAC are doing to make skating a positive experience for all involved.

Historically skating was an adult male sport until early this century. This changed with Sonja Henje who startled the skating community with her dazzling ability. As a result, the child skater increasingly became the main focus of the skating community. As year-round ice rinks became widespread and training techniques were perfected, it became easier to develop advanced skating skills in these younger skaters.

The skating community increasingly focused on the Olympic Games and steps that lead to the development of skaters on the Olympic track. Since Adult skaters were not part of this, they had little opportunity to participate in skating other than as recreational skaters.

An offshoot of this was the development of the Ice Skating Institute of America (ISIA) in the early 1960's. The ISIA focuses on the recreational aspects of skating. The ISIA supports skating levels for all ages and abilities. However, the ISIA is not nearly as widely distributed as the USFSA and is usually found in the larger urban areas.

Many Adults have joined the ISIA when it is available. But there are also many Adults that like the club atmosphere and more serious competitive aspects of the USFSA. In addition, in many areas an Adult skater must belong to a USFSA club since some rinks provide no practice ice other than club ice. This Adult skater depends on the USFSA and associated clubs to provide opportunities for competition, practice time, recreational skating, and skating social life.

In the last 20 years Adults have increasingly participated in physical sports activities. As there is increased leisure time due to technology and changes in work habits, the number of Adult athletes continues to grow. Women have also realized that they do not need to be bound to the home as much as in the past. This has resulted in an increase in sports activities for Adults. This includes competitive sports such as running, biking, skiing, and gymnastics. Adult athletes are now insisting that they be considered as serious sports competitors.

In the early 1960's Adults started entering USFSA standard freestyle competitions since these were the only events open to them. Many parents of skaters were upset that their children were competing against Adults and felt that it was unfair. There were age restrictions imposed so that Adults could not compete in the standard events. However, corresponding levels for the Adults did not exist for many years. So this left the Adult skater with either ISIA or no competition.

Over the years Adult skaters have been increasingly dissatisfied with the age and competition restrictions. Several years ago some Adult skill level competitions were created for Adults 25 and over. This came about after much lobbying from the Adult skaters.

Two years ago, an Adult competed at the Juvenile/Intermediate Championships. The result was that there were age restrictions imposed at the next Governing Council meeting. These restrictions prevented Adults from competing at the Intermediate level in any category. There were no permanent competition and age categories created to allow the Adult skater between 18 and 25 to continue to compete at this skill level.

Because of age restrictions there is little opportunity for the Adult skater between 18 and 25 to compete unless they are at the Novice level. In addition, there are only two skill levels currently for Adult skaters that cover abilities ranging from waltz jumps to triple Axels.

Many Adult skaters are returning skaters that grew up on the ice; they are anxious to return to competition. The number of Adult skaters has also been increasing with several hundred Adults now competing in qualifying events.

The Adult Skaters Advisory Committee was formed after many concerns were expressed by Adult skaters. There was a meeting several years ago out of which was formed the predecessor of the ASAC. This committee was very informal and its main goal was to send out a survey. This survey formed the basis for many proposals from the ASAC. The ASAC will be sending out a new survey this year to look at the progress of Adult skating and to explore new issues.

Some Adult skaters feel that they are sometimes ignored or given last preference at competitions just because they are Adult skaters. One regional competition held the Adult freestyle practice session at 5:00 a.m. on a Saturday with the competition at 10:00 a.m. This meant the Adults that had to work and travel Friday, had a difficult time getting to practice. The result was that there was only one skater at that freestyle session. Another qualifying competition changed the Adult competition location the night before to a rink that was 40 miles away from the announced location.

At the local level, some Adults are shut out of some club practice sessions. Sometimes there is no practice session for the Adults except a public session that rarely allows for program practice. Some clubs and rinks have a policy of refusing to allow Adult skaters at their freestyle sessions, even if they have passed the appropriate skill tests. One person explained that the reason for this is that the Adults have nowhere to go with their ability, whereas the kids can make it to the Olympics.

Another offshoot of the Adult skaters' concerns is the formation of the Adult Skaters Forum. The ASF is an advocacy group for Adult skaters and is exploring many ideas for the Adult skaters. The ASF is exploring training programs for the Adult skaters and publishes a quarterly newsletter. Its stated goal is to work closely with the USFSA.

The Adult skater does not want preferential treatment, but fairer treatment. Considering the USFSA goal of providing Olympic athletes, equal treatment would be impossible. However, many issues could be addressed without hurting the USFSA. Solving some of these issues should help the general goals of the USFSA.

In my next article I hope to further explore some thoughts and solutions that the ASAC is working on with other USFSA committees. ■

Joe Kaplenk is one of the founders and current President of the Adult Skaters Forum. He competes at the USFSA Adult Junior and Senior free skating levels as well as in the ISIA. Kaplenk is currently a Senior Software Programmer at Loyola University in Chicago and a part-time instructor in Computer Information Sciences at the College of Dupage in Glen Ellyn, Ill.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Daniel:

Ouch! If I were a defensive editor, I would point out a few proofreading errors in your letter. But, I'm not, so I'll take your comments in stride. I will be the first to say that at certain times and under certain time restraints, minimal typographical errors will occur... but numerous? You say busy, we say graphically interesting. In fact, we have found that more subscribers are reading more of the material that we print. Maybe a few pages have been overdesigned. Please allow us a few growing pains as we continue to develop our new design and editorial content.

Gentlefolk:

Why is it that it is easier to blast something we don't like than to praise something we do? My theory is that if we like it we take it for granted, because of course that is the way it is supposed to be anyway. I can't say I don't miss the old format of Skating, but I'm in that 60 and over category and we like to keep things the way we're comfortable with. I hope the input you get from us readers will enable you to put something out that everyone can be more or less comfortable with.

In general, I like the articles. I even like the ads, because they keep the flavor of skating, usually. Thanks especially for the write-ups on Rudy Galindo and Nancy Kerrigan and the critiques of several skating events in the December issue.

Like many others of your readers, I suspect, I am less than contented with the aesthetic concepts of the page set-up person, as contrasted with the editorial content. Without going into detail, I would have thought there would be no question of trying some of the effects attempted, they are so obviously wrong. These visual effects are "reader unfriendly." There ought to be—if there isn't—a fundamental law in the printing profession that there has to be a contrast between print and background. Further, look at the headline on pages 32 and 33. What clue do we have that we're supposed to read it "Former World and Olympic Medalists Dominate" instead of from the top down?

If I can be allowed to be clever, the medium overwhelms the message. Thank you.

Robert E. Morse

Dear Editor:

I have been a subscribing member to Skating since 1971 and wanted to express my input on the new layout and design of Skating magazine.

First, It is difficult reading articles when there is a color picture in the background (page 14, Dec '93). Secondly, I miss the listings of test results and calendar of skating events. Thirdly, the size is not convenient to travel with as I usually travel with my magazines when we escape for a weekend and now I won't be able to do that as it gets damaged and bent. There are too many advertisements which use up the space that another article could be written or include test results or obituary news, etc.

Lastly, I hope you will continue the wonderful efforts of upgrading Skating magazine but please do not put articles over color photos and include the items mentioned above, we should be able to compromise and still be able to enjoy it.

Sharon Ann (Dror) Soudakoff
Los Angeles, California

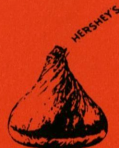

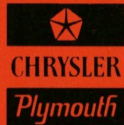

Dear Sharon:

First of all, we have had other negative comments regarding text over photos but not many. We agree that some headlines may be a bit overdesigned and we will work to improve them. Second, I'm sure by now you have received the newsletter version of Skating where you can find test results and the calendar of events. Third, I am unable to understand the few readers who complain about the new size. The majority of newstand-quality magazines are this very size and I'm sure fit in to most travel bags.■
