A CHANCE TO HELP

Dear Association:

We are asking for your help for Joanie (Bitterman) Denniston-Risch, a member of the U.S. Skating Team in 1968, who is now enduring the greatest battle of all...cancer.

Joanie started skating at the age of 7 and became the youngest member of the U.S. Senior Skating Team in 1969 at the age of 16. Joanie and her partner Brad Hislop won the Junior National Ice Dancing competition in 1968 and went on to place second in the Senior National Ice Dancing competition held here in Seattle in 1969. At the age of 19, she decided to retire and judge ice dancing competitions. Joanie is now 42 years old, married and has a son.

Last year, Joanie was diagnosed with ovarian cancer. She has undergone two extensive surgeries and 12 months of chemotherapy. Unfortunately, the treatment thus far has not been successful. Later this month, Joanie will undergo a stem cell transplant, in hopes to eradicate the cancer. Joanie's treatment is very expensive and is not fully covered under her insurance policy.

Together, with friends and family, we are holding a spaghetti feed and auction on March 25, 1995, to raise money to assist her family with their exorbitant medical bills. We expect around 150 close friends and family to come to this private benefit in Joanie's honor. We are presently talking to stores in our area to see what they can donate. To date, most of the food has been donated, however, we are trying to gather some items to auction off the night of the dinner. We are hoping that you can assist us in some way. Anything that you can do to assist us would be much appreciated. Our goal is to acquire all auction items by March 22nd.

Your donation can be sent to us at the following address:

Lisa and David Eskenazy
7720 235th Place NE
Redmond, WA 98053

(If a financial contribution is made, please make checks payable to the Joan Risch Benefit Fund at the address above.)

We can be reached at: Lisa (work) — (206) 747-4177, fax (206) 747-7817; David (work) — (206) 624-8909, fax — (206) 625-1543; home — (206) 868-4746.

Through all of this, Joanie is a true inspiration. She keeps a positive attitude and continues to hope for the best. She is truly admired by her friends and family. Most of us go through life enjoying the wonderful things life has to offer. It is not until something like this happens to a close friend or family member that we recognize how important it is that we help others when they need us. We realize you don't know Joanie, but please consider helping one of your predecessors in her time of crisis.

On behalf of Joanie's friends and family, we extend our sincere thanks for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Lisa and David Eskenazy
Redmond, Wash.

Before his untimely death in 1938 at the age of 45, they had amassed a remarkable collection of skating art and history, which Cécile continued after Gillis' death. Having been exhibited around the world, "Skating in Art," the Grafström collection was given by Mrs. Grafström to the USFSA in 1979. It is the centerpiece collection of The World Figure Skating Museum and Hall of Fame at the USFSA Headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo., where it can be admired by devotees of the sport of figure skating. THE MEMORIAL FUND'S 1994 - 1995 ANNUAL APPEAL IS UNDERWAY

Dear Memorial Fund Supporter,

In December, you were mailed the 1994-'95 Annual Appeal for the USFSA Memorial Fund. While we have been delighted with the positive response, we have not heard from many of you. With three months to go in the USFSA Annual Appeal, we stand at approximately 50 percent of our goal. By sending your tax-deductible contribution today, you can play an integral part in helping the Memorial Fund reach its goal.

Your contribution will go toward the financial assistance of many of the skaters that competed at the 1995 State Farm U.S. Figure Skating Championships. As you have seen, these skaters have devoted many years of training to realize their dreams. This training is very costly to the individual athletes and to the families of these athletes.

Won't you help the Memorial Fund reach its goal of $50,000 by sending your tax-deductible contribution today? If you have already made your contribution, we sincerely thank you!

Additional contributions throughout the year will accumulate toward giving you credit toward higher donor levels. This does not include donations made "In Honor of," "In Memory Of," or restricted donations. The USFSA Memorial Fund, as part of the USFSA, is exempt from tax under Code Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. Gifts complying with the rules of the Memorial Fund are tax-deductible as charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes.

COMMITTEE NEWS:

EDITOR'S NOTE: COMMITTEE NEWS is a new section within the Official Update department of Skating newsletter. This section is intended to brief the USFSA membership and Skating readership on the current activities of the various committees within the USFSA. These committees are charged with the task of carrying out the operations of the USFSA. Committee chairs are encouraged to submit regular updates on committee activities to Skating at USFSA Headquarters for publication in this section.

COLLEGIATE PROGRAM

This committee, under the direction of Chair Patricia Hagedorn of Lexington, Mass., is busy making final preparations for the first Collegiate Free Skating and Compulsory Moves Competition, March 25, in Cambridge, Mass.

This USFSA-sanctioned event, hosted by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will feature intermediate through senior-level competition in free skating, compulsory moves and team compulsory moves. The competition is open to skaters currently enrolled in a full-time degree program at any accredited college or university.

Points will be awarded to individuals and teams skating from a college figure skating club and will be totaled toward the Challenge Trophy, which will be awarded each year to the college or university with the highest point total.

JUDGES

The Judges' Committee, under the direction of Chair Eleanor Curtis of Granada Hills, Calif., recently sent a mailing to all club test chairs outlining guidelines and revisions for judges' appointments and trial judges, as well as introducing Judy Markham, National Vice Chair for Club Test Chairs. Markham plans to work with the individual clubs on any problems that they may have in the staging of tests, trial judges, etc.

FINANCE

The Finance Committee, under the direction of Chair Jack Curtis of Granada Hills, Calif., met Feb. 26-27, in Las Vegas, Nev., to review budget requests for the 1995-1996 budget year. The committee is presently preparing budget requests for consideration by the USFSA Board of Directors and Governing Council.

PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

The Program Development Committee, under the direction of Chair Phyllis Howard of Falls Church, Va., is meeting March 3-5, in Washington, D.C., for the purpose of prioritizing programs and charting the course of the committee for the next two years.

Over the past several months, this committee has spearheaded the efforts to stage the first U.S. Adult National Championships, April 21-23, in Wilmington, Del.

ETHICS/GRIEVANCE REVIEW

This ad hoc committee, chaired by USFSA Ethics Committee Chair Dr. Nancy Piro of Danville, Calif., will meet April 9 in San Francisco, Calif., to review current USFSA grievance procedures as outlined in the Association's by-laws. The committee will be looking to streamline and clarify these procedures in a proposal that is expected to come before the USFSA Governing Council in May.

The committee is composed of representatives of the athletes, coaches, parents, Headquarters staff and legal community. To date, the group has reviewed more than a dozen grievance procedures currently being used by other sports entities.

PLANNING FOR SUCCESS

By Grayce Balian Lombard

EDITOR'S NOTE: FOCUS FOR PARENTS is a new department within Skating newsletter. Material for this department is contributed by the USFSA's Parents Committee, Carole Yamaguchi, Chair, and is intended to address issues and subjects of interest to parents of skaters. The following article previously appeared in American Skating World and is reprinted with permission.

Today "open competitions" are a common and plentiful commodity. Twenty years ago such events were few. The emphasis and goal of training was usually regional competition with the hope of qualifying for sectionals and nationals. A great deal of pressure was experienced by the skater when he arrived at that long-awaited competition with one opportunity to demonstrate a year's training.

With more frequent competitions, skaters now have more opportunities to gain experience and confidence. For a youngster it is difficult to keep sight of a long-range goal. With non-qualifying competitions, a skater can have the long-range goal of a regional event while experiencing intermediate challenges.

However, participation in numerous events can work to the skater's detriment. If his total focus becomes how many competitions he is able to attend or how many medals he can "scoop up," he could begin to lose sight of that bigger goal: to progress as rapidly and as well as he can. Medal winning can be addictive; the next step too often is the skater's decision to hold back on tests so that he can have another chance to win a medal in the lower class. Long-range goals and progress, particularly on the testing ladder, become less important.

To avoid falling into this trap and to ensure that all competitions will be positive learning experiences, a skater should carefully plan, with his coach and parents, for a year in advance. During the planning session, consideration should be given to dates and location of competitions, but the focus should first be upon the highest goal the skater has for the year — be it to qualify for sectional competition, pass a test, or "peak" for a particular competition.

While some skaters must take a rest from "competitionitis," others must battle competition phobia. How is competition phobia fostered? Parents may contribute by saying, "Of course, you are a better skater than Alice," but this does not foster the competitive spirit. It is much better to encourage your child to work hard to be the best he can be. If a skater strives to improve for a competition, medal or not, he will still be ahead. If that philosophy is clearly in the skater's mind beforehand, he will be a healthy-minded competitor and, in the end, these competitors are the ones that do win.

A professional who tells his skater, "You are not ready this year; you need at least a double Axel," is being unfair to the skater. A skater who is to be successful in competitive circles needs experience and exposure to the judges and their views of his skating. Keep in mind: if the professional emphasizes winning only, he may be putting his ego before positive attitudes and experience-gathering situations for the skater. He should encourage his skater to go out and try, win or lose.

Likewise, the skating club can foster positive feelings by having send-off parties for everyone. Such functions are directed at letting all skaters know that their club is behind them, proud that they are representing their club at a competition. This attitude will not only encourage those currently involved but also provide an example and inspiration for those who have not yet ventured down the competitive path. For those skaters the message is clear: it is an accomplishment just to go. And when the skaters return, win or lose, they are greeted with friendship and encouragement. ■

The USFSA Parents Committee publishes a bi-monthly newsletter titled FOCUS For Parents, which is intended to serve as a communication bridge between parents and the USFSA. SURVEY FOR SKATERS

Dear Skaters:

The School Program Committee is requesting the assistance of all USFSA skaters under the age of 18.

The School Program Committee, which is part of the Program Development Committee, has created the attached survey and would appreciate your response. The School Program Committee is attempting to gather as much information as possible from across the country as to what is available or being done for our skaters.

The results from this survey will be assembled and reviewed by the Program Development Committee. The Committee plans to document the information provided from this survey and pass it on to the USFSA membership. Hopefully, the information that is gathered, can provide assistance and/or ideas to club members that are looking for ways to gain recognition of their skating accomplishments within their schools.

Thank you in advance for your participation.

Sincerely,

Debbie Weidman

PRECISION CANADA INTERNATIONAL

By Norma Leonardi Leone

From the decorations each team brought for the Draw Party Christmas tree to the national flags carried around the ice during the colorful finale, Precision Canada International, Dec. 28-30, in Toronto's Varsity Arena, was an event that showed what precision skating is all about: world-class skating in an atmosphere of international competition and goodwill.

Precision Canada International attracted 26 teams from 10 countries in both Junior and Senior events. Teams came from the United States, Canada, Sweden, Finland, Italy, Switzerland, Great Britain, Japan, Russia and France to compete in Canada's first International Skating Union sanctioned event. The competition was one of the first held since Precision Team Skating was accepted as an I.S.U. sport last summer. The significance of the event was reflected in the attendance of dignitaries from several countries, including I.S.U. President Ottavio Cinquanta from Italy, USFSA President Claire Ferguson, CFSA President Jean MacLellan, and the Counsel Generals from France, Great Britain and USA.

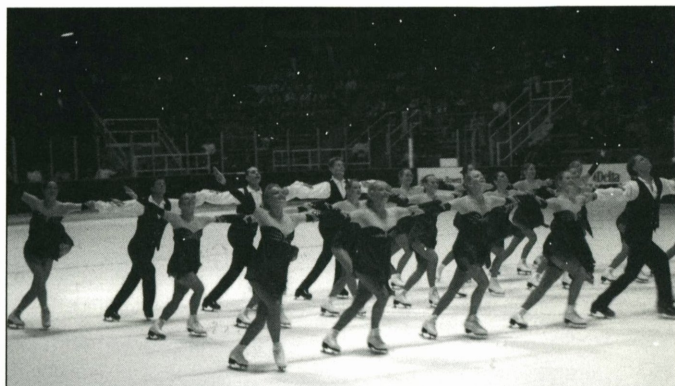

The stellar audience was matched by equally stellar performances on the ice as teams displayed incredible power and speed in every variety of precision move imaginable. In keeping with I.S.U. rules, each team skated both a short, or technical, program and a long program. The nine judges for each event represented the countries entered (except Japan). The U.S. was represented in judging by Precision Skating Committee Chair Margaret Faulkner and by I.S.U. Precision Technical Committee Chair Patricia French as Referee or Assistant Referee.

The Senior event was won by Team Surprise from Sweden, interpreting "Rhapsody in Blue" in a program that included deep, flowing edges, traveling rotating double lines, pass throughs, twirls and high kicks, all done with speed and precision. The "Blue" theme was carried by the ladies' midnight blue dresses with empire-style flowing chiffon skirts and by the four men's midnight blue vests. Second place went to Les Pirouettes from Canada, who skated to a fast-paced program of piano music while wearing costumes that featured a "keyboard" skirt and a bar of music on the bodice. Third place went to Les Etincelles from Canada, who wore purple-and-gold outfits and skated a program that featured excellent intersecting lines into spokes and wheels of several types.

Fourth place went to The Haydenettes of the United States, who dressed as marionettes in charming lace and flower print costumes and used facial expressions as well as movements of the hands, arms and legs to carry out the marionette theme. Their program featured outstanding rotating intersecting circles and line formations, and was skated so well they moved up from fifth place in the short program.

Although no U.S. teams earned medals, they all skated and represented our country extremely well. The caliber of skating in this event was very high, and fractions of points separated most teams. The Crystallettes skated to an eighth-place finish with a program that included an excellent rotating figure-eight and fast-paced footwork. The Miami University Precision Team wore elegant electric blue outfits trimmed with multicolored glitter beads, skated an equally elegant, rhythmical blues program, and placed 13th.

In the Junior event, Canadian teams made a clean sweep of the first three places. First place went to Les Pirouettes (same name as Seniors, but different team), who wore red, white and pink costumes trimmed with silver beads and skated a program of classical music that included the "Toccata and Fugue" and "The 1812 Overture." Their program featured outstanding rotating lines and strong, powerful skating with deep edges even during the slow portions. Second place went to the Brampton Ice Angels, who wore royal blue costumes trimmed with glittering blue-and-gold petals and skated to a mixture of classical and modern music. They used arm movements combined with excellent jumps, circle formations and twirls to interpret each type of music. Third place went to Elite Express, who wore black satin tuxedo jackets over white chiffon skirts and skated to a variety of dance music. They used a combination of waltzy moves, fast-paced footwork, and brought their spirited program to an end with two great pass-throughs.

The Colonials, from the United States, wore black velvet outfits with gold leaf trim and skated to spring and winter themes from "The Four Seasons." They skated a program that included good eggbeater moves and intersecting circles and placed seventh. The Ice Liners, also from the United States, wore blue, white and gold outfits to carry out their interpretive program of Greek music and placed ninth.

Many other teams turned in outstanding performances during this competition. To name a few, Les Alouettes from France formed circles within circles and used long, smooth edges combined with speed and power in their program, while Russia's Dream Team had 11 males on their 24-member team and skated a strong program featuring good intersecting lines and circles. Tokyo Women's College performed a three-spoke wheel with a rotating wheel inside, a neat "wave," and a move featuring six small circles traveling down the ice with great speed. The Hot Shivers from Italy wore colorful folk outfits and skated a wonderful interpretation of "Finiculi Finicula," while Les Mirages from Finland used waltz music in a program that included a precision waltz jump and beautiful, flowing moves. Finally, the Cool Dreams from Switzerland dressed in red, white and blue U.S. flag-type outfits and skated a lilting interpretation of Glenn Miller tunes.

The competition closed as it began — focusing on bringing countries, as well as teams, together. During opening festivities, skaters from each country brought an ornament representing their country to decorate a Christmas tree, which was then donated to a local charity. During the closing ceremonies, national flags were displayed and national anthems were played for each country winning medals, and representatives of several countries awarded medals (Patricia French of the U.S. awarded bronze medals). A rousing Parade of Champions followed the medal presentation, and then a separate evening program featured skating by teams who placed fourth or higher, guest teams, and the 1994 Canadian Fours Champions closed the competition.

Precision Canada International was a truly fitting introduction of Precision Team skating to the International Skating Union and to the world of skating. ■

N.J., but had moved his family to Newark, Del., so that Andrew could have more time to train at the University of Delaware.

Despite his father's death, Andrew and his partner Carissa Guild chose to skate their long program on Feb. 8, "because Dad would want us to."

Besides Andrew, Muldoon is survived by his wife Susan and another son, John, also a skater. Donations in memory of Jack Muldoon may be sent to the University of Delaware Amateur Skating Foundation, Blue Ice Arena, University of Delaware, Newark, Del. 19716.■

THE MAKING OF A BOOT...

By Andrea Faiad

Strolling past workers during a tour guided by Dan Riegelman, vice president of the family-owned skating boot manufacturer Riedell Shoes, Inc., ceiling fans attempt to clear the faint smell of leather, while the punching and banging of machinery constantly hums.

Fifty years have passed since the company's modest start in 1945 on the second floor of an unused factory in Red Wing, Minn. Now under its third generation of family ownership, the company remains in Red Wing, but its building now encompasses 54,000 square feet, produces more than 150,000 pairs of skating boots annually and employs 150-plus people.

Riegelman talks quickly, a notch above the production sounds, as he wanders up and down the aisles. Having grown up in the business, which his grandfather Paul Riedell began, the 130-plus steps required to make competitive figure skates come easily to him. He explains each fine detail of the boot-making process, but we'll just give you the simplified version.

Every pair of skates, whether they're worn by an Olympic champion or a recreational skater, begins with a piece of leather. The hide is inspected for imperfections, measured by a leather scanner for square footage and cut into boot pieces by a cookie-cutter-like machine. A total of eight pieces of leather are used, four each for the lining and the upper portions of the boot, plus more pieces for the tongue, sole, heel and reinforcement.

Before they are put together, the upper and lining pieces are stamped with a date code, size, order number and eyelet marks. The lining pieces are hand-stitched together at the back seam and then at the toe seam, as are the upper pieces.

From there, reinforcement pieces are cemented on the upper with either a latex or neoprane base cement. Padding is added next. Then, the lining is sewn into the upper. The excess edges are trimmed off at the same time. Another line of stitching is added for decoration and further support. A piece of leather is added to the eyelet row to enhance durability and strength. Next, each boot's tongue is sewn to the lining first and then to the upper with a cross-butterfly tack stitching.

At this point, the semi-made boots are inspected to make sure all pieces line up. If all goes well, the boots head for the next level of production.

Skate boots are built on a plastic foot mold, called a last. Lasts give consistent foot dimensions for skate sizes, fits and styles. Insoles are tacked onto lasts. For high-end competitive skates, Riedell uses a mulling process, which puts heat and moisture into the leather to make it more pliable. The pliable leather lining and upper are pulled to the bottom of the boot tight by hand, leaving no wrinkles. First, the arch is pulled in, then the heel and toe. All are tacked or cemented to the insole.

The inspectors review the boot at this stage. They check to see if the seams and eyelets are straight and uniform. Also, they make sure the boot sides are even. If the boots pass the test, they're ready for their soles.

The insole tacks are removed and the boots get put in a chamber dryer, which sets the leather tightly to the last. The boot bottom is then ground flat and the leather finish is taken off the bottom so cement can permeate it and hold the sole. Even though it's been ground down, a crevice remains along the middle of the bottom. A filler is put in the void between the insole and outsole, as is an 18-gauge spring steel shank for arch support. A urethane base cement is used to join the sole and boot.

From there, the heel, made of stacked leather pieces, is glued and nailed on. Heels come in various heights and widths for different skate styles and sizes. The heel is then trimmed and smoothed.

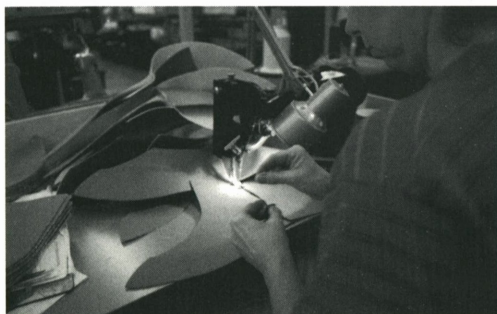

Again, the boots are inspected for structural and visual imperfections, such as loose threads, blemishes and wrinkles.

Finally, a worker cleans, hand-polishes, inspects and gives the boots a top spray for shine. Laces are put on and, after a final inspection, the boots are complete. The boots are then boxed and made ready for shipping. High-end skaters order their blades from a mounting specialist and put them on separately.

In addition to these skates, Lee Olson, a custom skate builder for Riedell, makes special order boots. He uses several foot measurements to build up a last for a personalized boot. Once the last is ready, he hands the model over to the company's production crew and files the special order record.

That's the end of the tour for us, but the boot-makers go on! Riedell's production crews continue to stamp, glue, nail and punch leather boots together, while skaters dazzle the world in their finished products. ■

After the boot pieces are cut, they are sewn back together.

FACES AT THE RINK

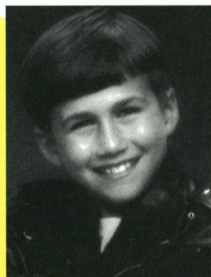

BRIDGET MC ERLANE

Bridget, 13, recently starred in the CBS television movie, A Promise Kept: The Oksana Baiul Story. Bridget was picked to be the "skating double" for 15-year-old actress Monica Keena, who played the role of Baiul. Bridget is a novice-level skater and finished eighth overall in the Novice Ladies' event at the 1995

North Atlantic Regional Championships. Bridget lives in Meadville, Pa., and skates for the FSC of Erie.

RYAN BRADLEY

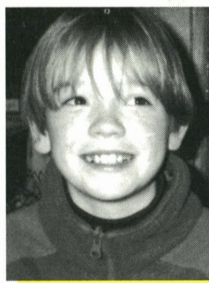

Ryan, 11, is the 1995 Southwestern Regional Intermediate Men's Champion. A member of the St. Joseph FSC, Ryan trains at the Bode Ice Arena in St. Louis, Mo., and is coached by Tom Zakrajsek. He placed third in the Intermediate Men's event at the 1995 Midwestern Sectional Championships. Ryan comes from a family of skaters. His parents were pair skaters and his mother is a judge and sectional referee. His 14-year-old sister, Becky, is an accomplished skater who competed in the Junior Ladies' event at the 1995 Midwestern Sectional Championships. An all-around athlete, Ryan also plays basketball and has been an all-star baseball player for the past three years. He is currently landing a triple Salchow and hopes to master at least two more triples by April, when he will compete in the 1995 Junior Olympics in Indianapolis, Ind.

RENEE LYNN SHUBERT

Renee, 19, is a Sophomore in the Physical Therapy Program at Gannon University in Erie, Pa. In addition to her full-time college schedule, she is coaching ice skating as a member of the USFSA Collegiate Skating Institute Program. A pro with the Westminster FSC of Erie, Renee teaches basic skills, coaches the club precision team, and has several private lesson students. She is currently working on her Junior Free Skating and Gold Dance tests in her spare time. Figure skating has been a major part of Renee's life since she was 5 years old. With her love for the sport and interest in her students, she plans on remaining involved in skating for many years.

CODY BROWN

Cody, 11, has been skating for three years and is coached by Kathy Weiner of the Whitefish FSC. He began competing last spring, winning the gold medal in the Learn to Skate event at the Skate in the Park competition in Spokane, Wash. and a gold, two silvers and a bronze medal at the Billings International Competition in Billings, Mont. Cody is currently preparing for his solo in Ice Extravaganza, the Whitefish FSC show. Having passed his Preliminary Test at the Billings International Competition last year, Cody plans to compete in the Preliminary Free Skating and Artistry on Ice events at the Skate in the Park competition this month. He skates at the Mountain Trails Ice Rink, an outdoor ice rink in Whitefish, Mont.

JEAN REUHL

Jean, 66, has been free skating for 34 years and still loves to jump and spin. She began skating in the early 1960s by taking group lessons with Michael Kirby in Park Ridge, Ill. Among the women in her group were Rosemary Santee, the mother of David and Jimmy Santee, as well as the mother of Lynn-Holly

Johnson of Ice Castles fame. Jean continued her involvement in the sport when she moved to Los Angeles, where she lived and skated for five years before moving to Madison, Wis., in 1973. An honorary member of the FSC of Madison, Jean is coached in free skating by Laurie Johnson. Two years ago, she decided to expand her skating to include ice dancing. She currently takes ice dancing lessons from coach Tina Mai Chen. Jean attributes her longevity in the sport to the fact that she does not try to compete with younger skaters on the ice and thereby avoids feelings of frustration. In addition to her two dance lessons and one free skating lesson, she also attends three to four club skating sessions a week. ■

Would you like to be among the Faces at the Rink?

Skaters of all ages and skating levels are invited to send a recent photo and a paragraph of information detailing their skating background and recent skating accomplishments to: Skating Magazine, 20 First Street, Colorado Springs, CO 80906.
